Bennetts named 'citizens of year'

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Editor

Holding a napkin over his face, Pontoon Beach Village Board President Paul Bennett sobbed repeatedly Saturday night as it was announced that he and his wife, Edna, had been selected by the Pontoon Beach Lions Club as the village's citizens of the year.

The announcement was a surprise to all but the Lions members, since the selection committee had come to a tie and the final vote on the citizens of the year recipients was left up to the club's members.

IT WAS A BREAK from tradition, as the club has tried to stay out of politics and avoided giving the honor to politicians and public officials in the past. When Namekoi Township Supervisor Harry Briggs and his wife, Pauline, received the honor in 1980, Briggs was no longer in public office. Later, he ran successfully for township supervisor.

In accepting the award from the club's outgoing president, Bobby J. Durbin, Bennett stated, "This is a real honor. I thank you all."

The honor was bestowed during the club's eighth annual installation of officers and community awards dinner in Lions Den II at 3901 Lake Drive.

THE HIGHEST award among the Lions went to George Goodwin, who was named Lion of the Year. A special award, the "Medal of Valor" was given to Lion Mike Papp for using life-saving techniques on Goodwin when he became ill during a Wednesday night bingo.

Paramedics said that Papp's action may have saved Goodwin's life. Papp also wept as the award was presented to him.

The annual tradition of distributing thousands of dollars to help support programs for the community good was continued as more than $12,000 was given away to community agencies during the dinner. "Along with the donations made throughout the year by this organization, the Pontoon Beach Lions will have donated a total in excess of $25,000 during the year," Durbin announced.

Road sought for KC club

Residents of the Norwood and Briarcliff subdivisions voted Saturday to tentatively approve an agreement with the Knights of Columbus for the rezoning of the former Johnson School.

The agreement is contingent on the ability of the Knights to construct a private road leading to and from the property within 18 months.

The session Saturday was the third meeting between the two parties. At earlier meetings, the residents compiled a list of 12 demands they feel are necessary to make the rezoning compatible with the residential neighborhood. The school is to be converted into a club building by the local KC Council.

According to Fourth Ward Alderman Phillip Miller, six of the twelve proposals were agreed to by the executive council of the Knights of Columbus. If the private road plan is approved, this would be the seventh request that is met.

The Knights and residents will meet with Mayor Paul Schuler before the regular City Council meeting tomorrow, to see if the city can aid the Knights in a plan to purchase land for the private road. KC Grand Knight Michael DeKuntz said the fraternal group has been unsuccessful in its attempts to purchase more land.

The Knights will offer a plan to run their road on land next to the city's Melrose Drainage Project. This project would most probably involve the construction of holding ponds west of Norwood Drive and Rode Avenue.

Miller said the residents, Knights and the mayor will discuss whether funding is available for the sewer line to start the drainage project.

Another point which is still not decided is whether the Knights will conduct carnivals with rides on their property. Pam Hendrickson, one of the members of the residents' committee, said the Knights had said earlier that they would not conduct carnivals, but changed their minds Saturday.

U.S. says Brimberry has his cash stashed

Federal prosecutors contend that Thomas R. Brimberry, formerly of Granite City, has stashed away some of the funds he obtained prior to the collapse of the Six & Co. stock brokerage in late 1981.

They are opposing his request that the government pay for his appeal of his prison confinement. The issue was argued Friday before U.S. District Judge Clyde S. Cahill in St. Louis.

U.S. Attorney Thomas E. Dittmeier and an assistant, Terry I.

Adelman, say there is massive evidence to indicate that Brimberry is not a pauper and has access to funds, plus probably hidden assets.

The prosecutors say that in December 1983 a car dealer who had been Brimberry's business associate, Joe Hatz, gave a lawyer a check for $9,500 and a new auto to use while in St. Louis for the trial.

It is asserted that during a March and April trip, Brimberry's wife,

Homicide inquest verdict cites head wound

A coroner's jury in Granite City Friday afternoon found that the death of 25-year-old Jacqueline Marlyse Reed of Granite City was caused by homicide.

GC man wins $3.8 million

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
of the Press-Record

Harry Towne, 240 Grand Ave., says he may work a few more weeks at Taracorp Industries, but that's all. Towne, 54, is this weekend's $3.8 million winner of the Illinois State Lottery lotto game.

Towne used the Quick Pick, in which the machine picks the numbers, to choose the winning numbers of 1, 12, 13, 23, 39 and 44. His winning numbers allow him to split a jackpot worth approximately $7.6

The death was due to "asphyxiation from aspirating gastric contents due to a bilateral occipital skull fracture," the jury ruled. Testimony indicated a blood clot resulted from a blow to the back of her head.

Inflicted by a blunt object, the head injury exerted pressure on her spine which caused her to choke.

A witness at the hearing, Capt. David Bopp of the Edwardsville Police Department, testified that evidence he collected during his investigation contradicts statements given by Tom Mudge, 28, of Edwardsville, who was with Miss Reed the night of her death and apparently was the only person present when she died.

Mudge told police that the two had been drinking the night of May 10 in Edwardsville and that, after returning to her apartment in Edwardsville, she vomited.

Initial indications were that she apparently choked on her own vomit after 8 a.m. May 11, when Mudge said he took her to the bathroom and returned her to bed and removed her clothing because it had vomit on it.

Capt. Bopp told the coroner's jury, "It appeared to me that Jackie Reed had been dead longer than just since 9 o'clock." He said an ambulance attendant then took her temperature and found no body heat shortly after 12:35 p.m. May 11, when she was pronounced dead.

There was no body heat and the ambulance driver agreed that she had been dead longer than five hours, Capt. Bopp testified.

Bopp said that, when Mudge was read his rights and was told of officers' suspicions, "he refused to answer any more questions. He wanted someone with him."

The autopsy showed two bilateral fractures at the base of Miss Reed's skull. These produced "definitely an extreme amount of pressure. Whatever it was (that hit her skull), it had to be a blunt instrument because there are no outward signs," the captain testified.

A fresh bruise on her forehead could have been caused after the injury to her skull if she then hit a wall, a piece of furniture or the floor, Assistant Madison County Coroner Dick Mizell noted. Mizell also said the autopsy showed contusions to her left arm and left hand, "possibly, a body grab by (a) hand," he related.

Capt. Bopp disputed Mudge's repeated statements that the two had "a few beers" in each of four or five tavern stops during the night and then some champagne. Bopp said blood chemistry tests were run twice, as a precaution. The tests, done in Chicago, "show no sign of alcohol or drugs" in her body. The captain did say that he has found witnesses who saw Miss Reed and Mudge in several taverns that

$300,000 plan

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler received word during the weekend from State Representative Sam Wolf that a $300,000 "rider" has been tacked onto pending Environmental Protection Agency legislation in the General Assembly.

The Assembly is nearing completion of its 1984 session. Adjournment is scheduled for Saturday, June 30.

The amendment appropriating $300,000 would provide part of the funds for repair of underground sanitary sewer breaks in Granite City.

Drug-related arrests here

A nine-month investigation by agents of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois culminated Friday afternoon in the arrest of two youths and three men by Granite City detectives.

The investigation centered on alleged drug dealings at the Monday's Maid laundromat at West 23rd Street and Illinois Avenue and a residence in the 2600 block of Ohio Avenue.

A Granite City youth was arrested outside the laundromat about 5 p.m. by Granite City detectives after having sold three-quarters of an ounce of what is believed to be cannabis to an undercover MEGSI agent. It is alleged. This arrest was the first of a series of arrests at several residences.

Arrested at 2028 Ohio Ave. was William N. Kee, 30, of that address, on three warrants for unlawful (Continued on Page 6)

No action yet on newest Madison police vacancy

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
of the Press-Record

According to the president of the Madison Police Commissioners, Paul Lunsford, "nothing is being done," to his knowledge, to replace patrol officer Richard Asperger, whose resignation will become effective in the Madison Police Department July 1.

Asperger's absence will reduce the department to six patrolmen and the chief of police.

LUNSFORD SAID he was not aware of Asperger's resignation, since he was unable to attend last Tuesday's council meeting due to illness. He said the last action that the commissioners had taken was several months ago when they recommended a replacement for former patrolman William Weidner to the city's aldermanic police committee.

Asperger will be the third police officer to have left the Madison department in recent months, with none of the three (Asperger, Norris Horton, and Weidner) being replaced.

After Horton's resignation, Madison Police Detective Paul Bargiel reverted back to uniformed police status to help cover the city's territory.

TO COPE WITH the latest resignation, Chief Don Bridick said all patrolmen will begin working six days a week in July. He said that some police, depending on what shift they are working, will be working 10 hours at a time instead of the usual eight.

Bridick said he understands that the finance committee will be meeting shortly, but he does not think it will be discussing police staffing. He said the committee currently is discussing the 1984-85 municipal budget.

The chief said he has submitted his budget proposal to the committee and that this plan calls for a staff of ten men on the police department. Bridick said he feels he needs this many policemen to give adequate police coverage.

ALDERMAN William Gushieff, a member of the police committee, said he was under the impression that the police commissioners are selecting persons to replace the police officers who have resigned. "These things take time, though, and these men they are considering will need training," he said.

Gushieff said he believes the commissioners need to "get moving," though. "And we need more than one policeman to be hired—we need to get it up to the normal number of staff," he said.

Gushieff said he thinks the reason several policemen have retired or resigned recently is the city's economic crisis. "These people are leaving simply on the basis of salary," he said. "In the past, we have lost many police officers to Granite City Steel because they can earn more money there."

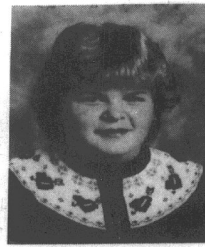

"THERE SEEMS TO BE an aura surrounding these resignations. People think the city is deliberately trying to get rid of the policemen—that the policemen are not happy. But this is not true."

Gushieff said the police committee has told the commissioners that they should get on with the business of hiring some policemen.

Since the resignations have occurred, there has been some discussion about how many men the department needs. According to the U.S. Department of Justice's Sept. 11, 1983 report, the national average ratio of police officers to population is two officers per thousand residents.

The average goes from a high of 2.7 officers in cities to a low of 1.5 officers in county areas.

TAKING THIS REPORT and Madison's 5,600 population into consideration, this would mean that Madison would have to hire at least one more officer to equal the 1.5 ratio of policemen to population.

$50,000 damage at Houser warehouse

Called to a fire at 2:40 a.m. Sunday, Granite City firefighters extinguished the blaze, which caused $50,000 damage to a storage building at 718 Niedringhaus Ave.

The warehouse facility is owned by William Houser, who operates Houser Auto Parts.

The amount of loss to items being stored inside the concrete block structure was not determined, nor was the origin of the blaze. An investigation will be conducted, authorities said.

Firemen remained at the scene for 2½ hours.

Department crews also responded to a fire caused by a short-circuit in an air-conditioning unit at the home of Linda David, 3001 Edgewood Ave., at 2:35 p.m. Friday.

A total of $500 damage was listed to the contents and $150 damage to the dwelling.

An electrical short apparently was responsible for starting a fire in the attic area above the living room at the home of Jerry Ray, 2408 Illinois Ave., firefighters extinguished it at 10:10 a.m. Friday. No loss to the structure was listed.

How to save money on your grocery bills

Here are some important shopping tips

- 1—Check specials in food store advertisements.
- 2—Get to know the butcher and produce manager.
- 3—Find out when deliveries of perishables are made and shop on those days. Fresher foods last longer and consequently, you'll waste less.
- 4—Learn to estimate accurately the amounts of food needed. Keep a record of the amount of food you throw away in a week. It may alert you to ways you can reduce waste.
- 5—For economy and variety, use eggs, dry beans, and peanut butter in place of meat some of the time. These foods provide protein and most other nutrients that meat supplies.
- 6—Use nonfat dry milk, which is less expensive than fluid milk, at least part of the time in cooking and as a beverage.
- 7—By law, economy sizes of non-food items must save you at least 5% over other sizes of the same brand.
- 8—Try to shop as seldom as possible, preferably once a week.
- 9—Always shop with a well thought out shopping list. Try to base your list of foods on your menu for the week.
- 10—Take advantage of the special coupon offers going on at First Granite City Savings in conjunction with your local Schnucks' grocer.

County lieutenant charged with marijuana production

Lt. Theodore "Ted" J. Nizinski, 37, of 19 Snowbird Lane was suspended without pay from the Madison County Sheriff's Department Friday after being charged with a misdemeanor of production of marijuana.

The charge was filed by the Madison County state's attorney office in conjunction with an investigation by the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois. Nizinski, a 37-year-old shift commander in the patrol division of the county, has been with the department since 1969.

According to the state's attorney office, two ounces of marijuana were found after a search warrant was executed at Nizinski's home.

Nizinski's suspension will remain in effect until a hearing can be conducted by the sheriff department's Merit Commission. If Nizinski is found in violation of department regulations, he could be subjected to disciplinary action, ranging from reprimand to dismissal, it was asserted.

Fire causes $51,000 damage to two homes

Madison firefighters worked four hours this morning to put out a blaze that started in a home on Fifth Street, Madison, and spread to neighboring property.

The fire, which started at 2 a.m. today, began at 1635 Fifth St., a two-story frame building, and spread to 1637 Fifth St., a one-story frame home. Madison Fire Chief Mike Macek said the property at 1635 was heavily involved and the property at 1637 was also burning when firemen arrived on the scene.

Cause of the blaze is undetermined as of yet and the Madison County Investigating Team has been called in to find the source.

Macek said both properties were occupied by renters. The owner of the property at 1635 Fifth is Tom York. Damage there totaled $25,000 to the building and $18,000 to the contents.

The owner of the property at 1637 Fifth St. is Everett Dollins. Damage to this residence totaled $8,000 to the building and $500 to the contents. Macek said this home suffered exterior damage and the damage to the contents was mainly due to water used to extinguish the flames.

The thief had sandy-blond hair, worn in a ponytail. He was without a shirt and was wearing cutoff shorts.

night. He quoted the witnesses as saying that when the two left before the 1 a.m. closing time, both appeared to be normal.

He also said he examined the young woman's clothing and bed linens and saw no extensive vomit.

Capt. Bopp concluded, "There is no doubt the cause of death was aspiration (on her own vomit), but I believe a blow to the back of the head and the trauma caused the aspiration."

Mizell stressed there are no charges against anyone. Mudge did not testify at the inquest.

The coroner's jury recommended that the case be bound over to the state's attorney for possible grand jury consideration.

Rainstorm foils reroofing plans

Friday morning's heavy rainstorm spelled disaster for some merchants of the Nameoki Village Shopping Center who were in the process of having their building reroofed.

According to Dan Linder, owner of Tratlter's, workers from the Lakeside Roofing Co. were in the process of taking the flashing off the roof when the thunderstorm hit. He said hundreds of gallons of water came in through the ceiling.

Linder said the loss of electric power resulting from the rain caused his store to close all day Friday. "When I first saw the damage, I thought we would have to be closed down for at least the weekend, but we were able to get some cleaners and an electrician in right away," he said.

Linder said Tratlter's was able to reopen Saturday, but suffered more rain intake during rain showers that day and night. "It was especially poor timing for this to happen then, since the merchants were involved in a sidewalk sale last week," he said.

He said his store was not the only one to suffer rain intake; the front of the 905 store and the former Mason store also were affected.

Tax on lotto? Don't bet on it

Both school employees and officials in the Quad-City area and throughout Illinois are preoccupied these days with what is happening or not happening in the legislature regarding education. While the session scheduled to end Saturday, the outlook is changing daily.

Although the Illinois Education Association endorsed Gov. James R. Thompson for the third term that the governor's budget proposal lists only small added financing for education and teacher retirement, and that—immediately after announcing his budget recommendations—he supported a costly plan to increase school bus service, consuming much of the fund increase.

There was some talk in Springfield of extending the one-year income tax surtax that is expiring June 30, but it did not get far.

Illinois senators enacted by 43-14 a 25-cent tax per $1 state lottery ticket, earmarking it for education.

After all, they reasoned, the lottery that was started in 1974 has become so successful that it is now the fourth largest state governmental revenue source (behind income, sales and utility taxes). It set a new record in 1982-83 and will do so again in 1983-84.

Lottery players keep track of the odds, however; such an extra fee might "kill the goose that laid the golden eggs," opponents (including the governor) said. Whoever is right, the Illinois House killed the proposal Friday, 53-56.

Gov. Thompson, meanwhile, said Illinois probably can spend more for schools than originally budgeted, due to a rise in business activity and the resulting tax revenue. While addressing the IEA, he said the main emphasis needs to be placed on further economic development; creation of more jobs automatically leads to more tax dollars for schools, he noted.

The final week of a General Assembly session always is hectic and the 1984 deliberations may be extra difficult due to the schools' dilemma. Chicago's district continues to push for a surtax extension, citing hundreds of millions of dollars of debt.

A watchful eye is being kept by many, on all sides of the issue, and we don't blame them one bit.

Concern on abuse of children

Comments received here Friday from Gordon Johnson, director, Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, are worthy of concern and action by Quad-Cityans. He said the number of children reported to DCFs last year as sexual abuse victims increased at nearly triple the rate of children reported for all forms of child abuse.

The state was told of suspected sexual abuse of 4,982 children in the fiscal year ending in June 1983, up 197 percent. Johnson estimates the total for the year ending June 30, 1984, will top 5,000, an additional 25 percent increase.

By contrast, 65,432 children were reported as victims of all types of abuse in 1982-83, a 7.2 percent increase over the 59,194 listed the previous year. He says:

"Girls are the victims in most of the cases, and the abuser is usually a male. In 62 percent of the cases, the abuser is a natural parent, stepparent or parental substitute, usually the mother's boyfriend. Some live-in boyfriends pose a real threat to children because they have no blood ties to the youngster and are frequently cast in the role of lone babysitter.

"An increase in articles and broadcasts about sexual abuse of children is partly responsible for the acceleration in reporting to DCFs. Child sexual abuse is coming out of the closet. When dealt with effectively, the youngsters are offered appropriate protection and treatment.

"Our policy requires all sexual abuse reports to be referred to law enforcement agencies and state's attorneys for consideration of criminal charges. DCFs investigators have found that 55 percent of the alleged victims have actually been sexually abused. For all types of abuse or neglect, the allegations are confirmed for 42 percent of the children reported.

"This suggests there is solid evidence in most sexual abuse cases reported to us, and that sexual mistreatment of children is one of the most serious problems in our society."

Censoring the 100-mpg auto

Newspaper readers get all the news that's fit to print, not just all that fits the space. Right? That certainly has been the policy of the Press-Record since 1903, but some doubt is being voiced elsewhere about big stories going unreported. Here is the lowdown.

The top ten U.S. news stories of 1983 are generally said to have been: Marines massacred in Beirut, Soviets down KAL airliner, U.S. invades Grenada, the American economy, missiles deployed in Europe, European nuclear protests, Lech Walesa's Nobel Peace Prize, weather problems and the resignations by Menachem Begin and James Watt.

In their version of the question, "Where's the beef?" Project Censored researchers list the ten major 1983 "censored" stories as: Israeli arms to Central America, U.S. and the arms race, USSR nuclear freeze proposal, U.S. agricultural disaster, KAL 007 victim of spy war, intervention in Central America, South Africa politics, nuclear Navy accidents, DNA and biological warfare, and the Defense Department taxpayer swindle.

What the eight-year-old research group is saying is that some important issues are not being widely reported by news media of all kinds. It contends that Israel is giving police and military training to thousands of Latin Americans, the U.S. has more strategic armament than it admits, there was little response to initial arms freeze proposals, "payment in kind" farm subsidies created much harm, airliners gather military intelligence, etc.

If you accept the research project's findings, you will believe there are a lot of accident-prone submarines—"floating Three-Mile Islands"—still cruising the world's oceans with few questions being asked about them. You will say that Uncle Sam has built too many inefficiencies into his cost-plus contracting system. And you will contend that under the guise of biological war defensive research, the nation is using gene-splicing technologies for possible offensive purposes. We suspect that researchers' political biases may account for at least some of the censorship allegations. And in a few of the instances, we are sure many stories have been published; the question being raised is whether they have included adequate detail.

In any case, "Where's the story?" seems destined to be asked again and again. For any doubting Thomases, the news suppression conspiracy knows few bounds. In case you want to know of even more 1983 issues that you did not read about, or did not read enough about, Project Censored provides another list:

Pentagon seeks new State Defense Forces to combat domestic terrorism, before and after the Grenada invasion. Pres. Reagan misspoke about Soviet nuclear test cheating, the technological invasion of personal privacy, products unsafe at home are still unloaded abroad, the CIA coup in Australia, the alliance between the CIA and the Vatican, four simple steps that can save the lives of 20,000 children a day.

The end of occupational safety and health safeguards, political not scientific research is determining what is carcinogenic, EDB the super carcinogen, the campaign to discredit population control leaders and institutions, runaway hormones and precocious puberty, the 100 miles per gallon car, and the chilling effect of libel suits.

capture the long and productive lives of those they honor. Certainly, when we are aware of specific achievements, every effort is made to include those achievements. We rely, in great part, on the families telling the funeral home or the newspaper about those achievements. In our defense, the obituary on Mr. Rosenberg listed him as a member of one of the founding families of Granite City, noted that his father was the mayor from 1899 to 1903, that he was the owner of Rosenberg's Department store downtown and that he was a member of B'nai B'rith. It is a shame that budgets, time and space do not enable us to thoroughly research and tell the full history of everyone who dies in and from this area. We are sure a colorful book could be written about each and every one.

Club, other civic organizations, and El Club B'nai.

After he retired wherever he traveled, Granite City was always home, his heart was here and he was an ardent follower of news about the city.

Even in his late years he was not idle. At age 80 he visited Israel and during his stay helped harvest grapefruit. He developed an avid interest in experimenting with many varieties of grapes and kept several hives of bees all in a 50-foot backyard.

I feel the Press-Record was either ill-advised or late in the manner of reporting the end of a 94-year contribution to life.

Was disappointed in her father's obituary

To the Editor:

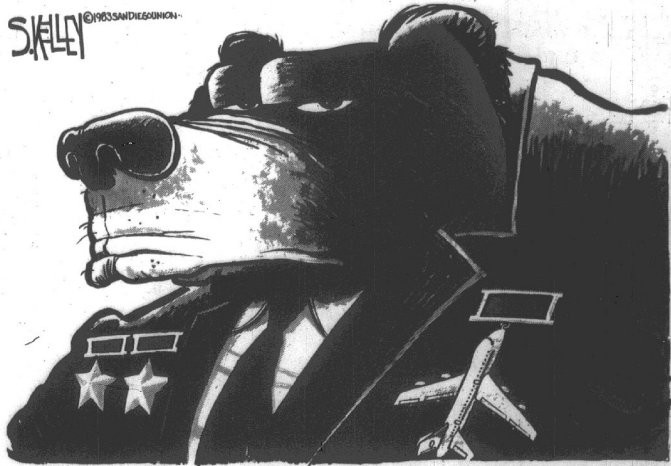

For a man to spend all the years since his birth in 1890 in Granite City and, upon his death the Press-Record can only print a scanty, short, somewhat erroneous article of the occurrence, is a sad reflection of the research and reporting abilities of your newspaper.

My father, William Rosenberg, died on May 22. He resided his entire life of almost 94 years in Granite City, except this past year when he was ill.

He was a member of one of the founding families of Granite City, living here when the village was known as Kinderhook.

Your files surely could have yielded more pertinent and informative facts about a man who during his many years in business devoted endless hours to the betterment of the city, was active in the Rotary

KAL Flight 007

Quad-City area residents were asked last week how they feel about a British magazine report that says that the Korean Airline flight that was shot down by the Soviets last September was on a spy mission. The report, which was featured in newspapers last week, said that the airplane was in close contact with the Space Shuttle Challenger and that the space craft was attempting to monitor the Soviet's air defense system. Readers' reactions follow:

Mick Strange, Madison

"I do not believe the report. I think the leaders of the free world should have taken strong action against the Soviets when they deliberately shot down the public plane. They should have taken severe sanctions against the Union of the Soviet Socialist Republic. This just goes to prove that you cannot deal with communist countries in any way, shape or form, because they are communist atheistical liars.

Bob Stevens, Granite City

"No I do not think the article was true. I think that it (KAL 007) was just a routine airline flight. Some form of contact should have been made with the plane before drastic measures were taken. There's always a possibility for a margin of error on the part of the airlines on their flight pattern."

Gail Valle, Granite City

"No, I don't believe it. I can't understand why the report came from a British magazine. If it would have come from a communist country, I would have expected it, but I didn't think a statement like that would come from one of America's allies."

Joe Miklovic, Granite City comptroller

"To me, that (the report) sounds preposterous. What is the British news service's evidence? Airplanes stray over into other countries all the time. Why would our country risk such an attempt with a public airplane—especially in a country that doesn't think highly of human life?"

Christian education is a job for churches

To the Editor:

One of the great failings of Bible-believing Christians is to speak before they have made a careful investigation of the facts. Church leaders wishing to make prophetic pronouncements have the obligation to become informed and to provide a fair treatment of the issue. The confusion over prayer in public schools is a classic example.

The Supreme Court decision excluding the simple prayer by the New York board of regents, a state governmental agency, concluded with the observation that Christians of all persuasions should take seriously. It is a quotation from the author of the First Amendment, James Madison:

"Who does not see... that the same authority which can force a citizen to contribute three pence only of his property for the support of any one religious establishment, may force him to conform to other establishments in all cases whatsoever."

This raises a fundamental question: If a state legislature or local school board can prescribe a prayer as innocuous as that formulated by the state board of regents of New York, does not that legal body have a right to formulate and prescribe other prayers or other observances which might be exceedingly offensive and completely unacceptable to too many Christians?

While Christians must never minimize the presence in our society of those with atheistic or at least agnostic tendencies who would seek to undermine our religious and social institutions, we must not rely on the government to perform those functions that rightfully belong in the home and the church. God has given children to parents, not to a political system.

Those who are honestly concerned about teaching children to pray and to have a reverence for God, ought to diligently support the churches and church programs to which they are related. Let those who raise the hue and cry about the court decision banning prescribed prayers in public schools remember that the court has never banned prayer in our homes or in our churches!

There is another related issue that needs to be addressed in this discussion. It has to do with the support of public schools by parents who choose to send their children to private or parochial schools. Thank God for the freedom that permits parents this option. But let no family feel that they have been treated unfairly by assuming this choice for their children.

The value of our homes, the strength of our democratic institutions, the functioning of businesses, and the lives of our children are all profoundly affected by the quality of public education. Even those who never use our parks, or highways, or police departments or fire departments are expected to pay for them, since without them our communities would be threatened with chaos. Since a functioning and literate community depends upon an educated population, the entire community is expected to share in the support of public education.

I am grateful for the large number of Christians who have been a part of public education through the years. I am grateful for the schools that have given my children a sound education. I am hopeful that an ever stronger educational system will develop as Christians become a part of the process.

Meanwhile, it is my fond hope that Christians will never substitute legislation for evangelism or to think that innocuous prescribed prayers are a substitute for Christian training in the home and church. Let no one think it a bargain to exchange our religious freedom for a mess of political pottage!

Animal Protection group lost its supplies

To the Editor:

Yesterday, another member of the Association for the Protection of Animals went to the Army Depot to collect the items we had stored there since our closing seven years ago. We were told that everyone had been contacted to remove their belongings over a year ago. No one contacted us because the Army couldn't figure out who all those dog pens, dog houses, litter boxes and papers with our names on them belonged to. So they hauled over $2,000 worth of equipment we were counting on to open the new shelter, to the dump. This leaves us in quite a pickle. We have put so much money into the building itself and left very little for supplies, not thinking we were going to need them. We are requesting anyone who has lost an animal and doesn't have any more use for such things as litter pans, feed and water bowls, leashes, collars, chains, chain link dog pens and dog houses, and who would like to donate them, contact us at 831-7030 or 451-2357. Also needed is a file cabinet, shelving, trash barrels and waste baskets.

Simpler tax forms subject of hearing

The U.S. Department of Treasury will conduct a public hearing concerning income tax reforms Thursday in Springfield, Ill.

According to the Government Research Foundation (GRF), taxpayers seeking a fairer and simpler federal income tax system may attend and testify at the hearings.

GRF officials said the hearing will focus on a Gross Income Tax (GIT), a National Sales Tax and a Value Added Tax as possible substitutes for the current system. "Of these," they said, "the most desirable is GIT, which would give taxpayers a fair and efficient system and would give Congress a reliable means to raise federal taxes."

Under GIT, businesses would pay tax on gross income and allocate a pro-rated share to each employee. Wage earners would file no income tax form and, except for the tax paid by their employer, pay no federal income tax.

The rate of taxation would be low, probably four to six percent, backers believe. A major study of GIT is the basis of legislation now pending in Congress, GRF officials said.

Persons who cannot attend and testify may send a written statement to the Treasury Tax Reform Study Group, P.O. Box 299, Washington, D.C. 20044.

MADISON POLICE CHARGE MAN ON LANE USAGE, DUI

James J. Tormino, 24, of 3008 Marshall Ave. was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and improper lane usage after his auto struck a parked car outside the home of Dorothy J. Holt, 1026 Greenwood St., Madison, at 5:25 p.m. Saturday.

Tormino, allegedly driving south in a northbound lane, was released on $150 cash bail.

Charge driver after accident on Monroe

Three persons were injured in a crash in the 2200 block of Monroe Street at 1:45 p.m. Saturday. David G. Mathis, 18, of 2116 Bern Ave. was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and driving while his license was revoked.

The auto of Cindy J. Young, 18, of 2650 Iowa St. was traveling south on Monroe Street. She swerved to the right to avoid Mathis' northbound car, she said, but her vehicle was hit broadside.

Mrs. Shelby Cohan and Nicholas Cohan, 10 months old, both of 2650 Iowa and passengers in the Young auto, were injured and were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Miss Young also sustained an injury and went to the medical center.

Mathis was released at 1:30 a.m. Sunday after posting $302 cash bail.

Brimberry

Janice, received a note from her husband telling her to pay $20,000 to the same defense lawyer, David Lubell.

A trial witness, an FBI agent, testified that a year after his arrest Brimberry told him he knew where $2.8 million of Stix & Co. money could be found.

Prosecutors also said that Leon Streif, who purchased Brimberry's mansion on Parkway Drive in Granite City, paid the final $1,000 of Lubell's $3,000 motel bill. Streif is said to have paid more than $1,000 of Brimberry's long-distance telephone charges incurred during a stay at the St. Clair County jail.

It is said that Mrs. Brimberry is offering to sell land in Granite City for $18,000. And Streif allegedly co-signed a $5,000 bank loan to her for her wallpaper store in Missouri.

No ruck has yet been made over whether the federal courts will pay for an appeal.

the Knights facility," she said. "The Knights are still discussing that aspect, though."

Requests that were met include the following: construction of a privacy fence behind the homes on Woodward Drive; oiling of the private road until it can be paved; a clause that no neon signs will be displayed on the property; an agreement that the Knights will not cause additional drainage problems to the residents of the subdivision.

Also, placement of a "no right turn" sign out of the parking lot for a person conducting traffic after KC events, and possibly giving the residents written notice when new activities are planned by the fraternal organization.

The Knights did not agree to the following: construction of only one softball diamond and no lights on the field; keeping all alcohol on the inside of the facility; no sales of liquor at bingo games; setting shortened hours, and not having any carnivals.

Mrs. Hendrickson said many of the residents were not in favor of continuing negotiations with the Knights. She said residents feel the Knights have only given in to minor requests. However, she said, negotiations will continue until an answer is given on the private road proposal.

Other arrests included that of Ralph E. Hamner, 27, of East Alton. Arrested at the Ohio Avenue address about an hour after the first arrests, he was served with a warrant for unlawful delivery of cannabis.

Bennetts

"It makes me proud to be a member of this fine organization. Thanks to each and every one of the members, as without your help, these donations could not have been made," he added.

THE CLUB ITSELF received an honor as District I-G Governor Coy Anderson, installing officer for the evening, announced that the club has again earned the title of Club of the Year in the district, an honor it also held last year.

Community organizations receiving cash awards, and the amount of each, were: the village of Pontoon Beach, $1,000 for flags to be flown on holidays, Christmas decorations and other improvements; the Pontoon Beach Police Department, $1,500 for fingerprinting equipment and possibly for a holdover cell, and the Long Lake Fire Department, $1,000 for expanding the two-way communications system.

Also, Pontoon Beach Coordinated Youth Services, $1,000; the Nameoki Township senior citizens' program, $1,000; the Granite City Center of Belleville Area College, $1,000 for two $500 scholarships for deserving students; the Tri-City Area YMCA, $750 for programs and improvements, and the Organization to Aid the Handicapped (OATH), $500 for helping handicapped youth.

THE DREAM FACTORY, $500 to help make a terminally ill child's dream come true; Alpha House, $500 to help fund the home for women in need; Hospice of Madison County, $700 to support its program for terminally ill patients; the Piasa Drug and Alcohol program, $1,000, and the American Diabetes Association, Madison County Chapter, $1,125 from the club's bike-a-thon.

In his final speech as president, Durbin concluded that he is proud of the club's accomplishments this year and said it is an example that

"there's no limit to the amount of good a person can do if he doesn't care who receives the credit for it."

DISTRICT GOVERNOR Anderson then installed the officers for the 1984-85 year. Installed were: Robert Lipscomb, president; Durbin, immediate past president; Alex Malyszynski, vice president; Mike Papp, second vice president; Walk Konkin, third vice president; Goodwin, executive secretary-treasurer, and Mike Starke, tall twister.

Named to serve on the board of director for two year terms were Frank Cramer and Bill Fanning and to serve for one year were Sig Shedd and Bob Fleming.

After the presentation of symbols and the gavel to Lipscomb and gifts to Durbin, Lipscomb said he looks forward to the year ahead and hopes it is successful as the past year.

THE ANNUAL EVENT recognizing the citizens of the year, outstanding Lions and installing new officers is a highlight each year for the club. The dinner is sold out each year well in advance of the date.

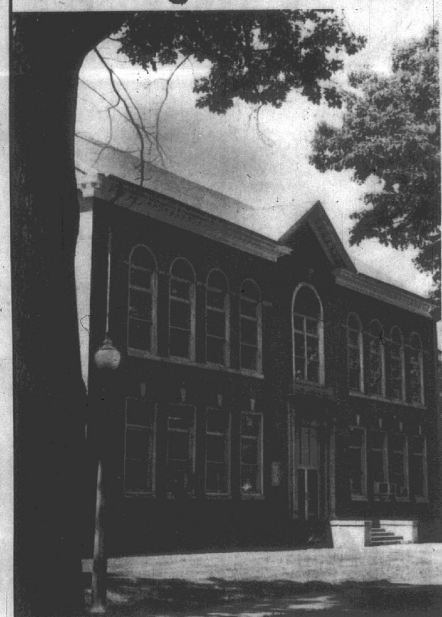

One of the highlights is the annual citizens of the year announcement. This is the ninth year that honor has been bestowed by the club. Beginning in 1976, annual winners, in order, have been Otto and Corine Kreher, John and Irene Karlechik, Andy and JoAnn Bukovac, Chester and Thelma Dean, Harry and Pauline Briggs, Chester and Leora Anderson, Edgar and Sylvia Patrick and Arnold and Elta Rutherford.

This year's winners, the Bennetts, have been married 32 years and are the parents of four children, David, Cheryl, Bruce and Linad. They also are the grandparents of eight.

PAUL BENNETT has lived in Pontoon Beach since he was six years old. He has been involved in village politics for 12 years, first as a trustee and now in his second term as village board president. He formerly was precinct committeeman for Nameoki Precinct One.

For 10 years, he ran the Piasa Fina service station, but gave it up due to his health. He then was a mechanic for two years for the Nameoki Township Highway Department and currently is a foreman for the county's special sewer district.

How long can a school last? Many generations

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Granite City High School still has much the same appearance as it did when the initial classes were conducted there in October 1921, judging by the newly-taken photograph above.

Of course, the school is much bigger than it was, due to the addition of numerous annexes and wings. But the overall look of the brick structure retains its original beauty although nearby Madison Avenue now has much more traffic and activity than in past years.

Once located on the edge of town and now in its center, the former Community High School—designated officially in the fall of 1963 as Granite City Senior High School—continues to be a busy center of instruction for ninth to twelfth grade students.

As indicated by the second of Patrick Foldy's two Press-Record staff photographs above, there has been wear and tear. School Board Member Dewey Melton is shown inspecting a deteriorated floor area in one of the classrooms visited this year by the Board of Education of District Nine.

The extent of refurbishing to be done in the mid-1980s may be affected directly by the outcome of an improvement program that is a possibility for consideration in the fall of 1984.

How long can such a building, serving 3,000 boys and girls and now worth many millions of dollars, be kept in regular use?

It already has been utilized for several generations but it can be maintained indefinitely if there is adequate maintenance, repair and modernization work, authorities believe.

The history of local area school buildings, including parochial and rural schools, goes back to the early 1800s. But the Granite City school district itself dates back to 1894, when Professor Louis Philip Frohardt was the original and only educator.

The Kinder Church building a few feet south of the present Emerson School structure was the original school. It and Emerson both were the site of some high school classes starting in the fall of 1899 when the first high school graduation took place in May 1902 at Kinder.

All of the high school classes were taught at Kinder only beginning in 1903-04. Then they were moved to McKinley when it opened in 1907 and to Central when it was completed in 1914.

All of those centers were called High School at one time or another but the present high school campus did not materialize until 1920.

From 1973 to 1983, two high schools operated and GCHS was known as South High. North High operated for that decade at Maryville and Nameoki roads and for the past year has been the Granite City Center of Belleville Area College.

When classes begin at GCHS this fall, that site at Madison Avenue and Nameoki Road will be starting its 64th year as a high school. Most areas of the building lack air-conditioning but the diverse facilities generally are viewed as still excellent for their purposes.

A separate high school district was created in 1920. Press-Record archives show, and the high school and grade school systems were reunited in 1962.

GCHS principals have been L.P. Frohardt, Walter F. Coolidge, Vergil Bufford, Paul A. Grigsby, Russell D. Johnson and Lawrence McCauley, all now deceased, followed by James Dumont and the current principal, Gilbert Wainsley.

Cancel SIUE tennis? An outrage, another solution by inaction Headed For Kansas

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

Twice, now, within little over a year, students, alumni and the supporting public of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have been shocked to their collective depth of unbelievable amazement with a decision by the powers at the school to solve a problem by "waiting a year".

Both decisions revolved around the mercurial and marvelous career of SIUE's men's varsity tennis team coach, Kent DeMars, who dramatically announced that he was quitting the Cougars as of now to accept "an offer he couldn't refuse" from the University of South Carolina at Columbia.

What made the decision by DeMars so painful was that his Cougars had just won a near record seventh straight NCAA (division II) national team championship.

My own feeling of despair and almost one of betrayal wasn't directed to toward Kent DeMars. No, rather it was against Jim Buck, the school's vice president of community affairs and the top person in charge of the school's men and women's athletic programs.

Dr. Buck's cut-and-run decision, hide-his-head-in-the-sand action to cancel the men's tennis program for a year was even more shocking than his equally mind-boggling one to drop varsity basketball in May of '83.

What's going on here?

As noted, no one blames DeMars for accepting the job of improving the South Carolina U. Gamecocks' tennis ranking in the NCAA's division I competition. DeMars definitely has earned the right to show what he can do in the Big Leagues of NCAA intercollegiate tennis.

Commentary

Knowing DeMars as I do, I'm convinced that there was more behind his decision than that which meets the eye.

More of that aspect of the case later on.

It's strangely ironic that the current dropping of the men's varsity tennis program grew out of an happening also involving Kent DeMars and his program which led directly to the cancelling of the men's basketball 1983-84 season and the eventual loss of the team's coach, Tom Fugliese, and the firing of the school's Athletic Director, Ed Bigham.

Triggering Dr. Buck's decision to drop basketball was the disclosure in the campus newspaper, the Alethea, that DeMars' then No. 1 and No. 2 singles players, Kent Flach, and Bob Seguso, had confessed that they no longer were attending classes, "to sharpen our games" before turning pro. Right here it should be pointed out that Flach's and Seguso's decisions were absolutely OK under NCAA regulations then and now.

Now, a little over one year later, in the draw for the prestigious Wimbledon in Marrie Ol' England starting immediately, are none other than Flach and Seguso. Neither Flach or Seguso, or their opponents are "seeded" in the draw. Flach will play Bob Van't Hof of Dallas in his first-round match, while his doubles partner, Seguso, will match strokes with Australia's Pat Cash.

Flach and Seguso, rapidly becoming one of the top doubles team in the entire World, earned their entry at Wimbledon by winning the doubles crown in the Italian tournament.

Cougar sports fans everywhere are surely pulling for Flach and Seguso to do well in the "Big One" outside London.

But, what these same fans feel and think about Dr. Buck's two decisions dropping basketball and tennis "for one year each" can only be one of sheer bewilderment and a sickening one of shame.

Who is to blame, in the last analysis for these two shameful decisions by Buck?

The fault has to be the SIU-systems (Edwardsville and Carbondale) Board of Trustees which okayed hiring of first Kenneth Shaw as Cancellor of the two schools and the naming of Earl Larson as the top man at Edwardsville. And, of course, the subsequent naming of Dr. Buck as the second in command at SIUE.

What a dramatic contrast between what just happened over in Missouri and what happened here in Southeastern Illinois.

The Show-Me-State officials, in choosing their new president at MU in Columbia went out and hired a proven man for the job, C. (for Claude) Peter Magrath (pronounced McGraw). Magrath comes to Columbia after a proven successful tenure at the University of Minnesota. Neither Shaw nor Buck had similar backgrounds as Magrath's.

The Southern Illinois University system's Board of Trustees have been consistent, at least at Edwardsville. They appear, by their actions in hiring top administrators overall and directors of athletics, to prefer unknowns and people without proven track records.

Not one of SIUE-Edwardsville's three former athletic directors had served anywhere in that capacity before taking over for the Cougars. Harry Gallatin, Bob Guelker and Eldon Bigham all three tried their best.

The fact that SIUE sports teams, in spite of and not because of anything they did, still had the Cougars in the Top 30 NCAA athletic teams for the past 10 years. Dr. Buck still hasn't named an athletic director to succeed Bigham.

What a record that the Cougars might have had if the Trustees had insisted that a experienced Athletic Director be chosen. And, at the same time, that the job now held by Buzz Shaw have been filled by a man or woman who had gained his or her experience in the day-to-day, operation of a university.

Looking at it now, the taxpayers of Illinois have been and will continue to pay for the most expensive on-job-training program in the entire history of United States education.

NEW RECRUIT. Accompanied by his parents (left), Gary Apperson, a member of Granite City High School's varsity basketball team last season, recently signed a letter of intent to play at Kansas Wesleyan in Salina, Ks. Apperson, who averaged eight points and 11 rebounds a game last year for coach Don Deterding, is the son of John and Virginia Apperson of 2812 Idaho. Standing at right is KW coach Jerry Jones.

Finish Third In Big 10

Illini men's sports best in decades

CHAMPAIGN—The University of Illinois men's athletic teams enjoyed perhaps its finest all-around year in decades.

The Illini wound up third in the Big Ten Conference's all-sports championship (behind Michigan and Wisconsin), up one notch over last year's fourth place finish.

But Illinois made major stride in four sports: the football team became the first squad to beat every other league member in the same season in winning the Big Ten title and a Rose Bowl berth, the school's first in 20 years.

The basketball team tied for the conference title (the first in 21 years) and advanced to the Final Eight of the NCAA tournament with a school record of 26 victories.

The golf team was invited to the NCAA tourney for the first time since 1957, and the tennis team played in its first post-season tourney ever (the National Invitation Tennis Tournament) and wound up second in the 16-team field.

The gymnastics team continued its fine showing with a ninth place finish in the NCAA meet and the cross country team also finished ninth at the NCAA meet. The fencing team wound up 19th at the NCAA championships and was the seventh sport to finish in the top 30 of the country for Illinois.

"We're extremely proud of our accomplishments this year," said Illini Director of Athletics Neale Stoner. "But we're not content with where we are. We want to continue to improve in each and every sport."

"We're also pleased with the support that we have received from Illini fans throughout the state. We sold tickets in record numbers and our private donations to the Grants-in-Aid program reached an all-time high."

United drive is topic of Catholic Charities

At last week's Catholic Charities board meeting, new board members were welcomed and talks were given by Eric Robertson, Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign chairman, and Janet Quanton, executive director of the United Way.

Mrs. Frank (Nancy) Halvachs was elected as 1984-85 president; Casimir Krakowicki, vice president; and Alex Schenckhoff, treasurer.

New board members include Herbert Reisinger, Mrs. Paul (Karen) Costello, Mrs. Larry (Delores) Brinker, David Wilson and the Rev. Alfred Johnson, pastor of the African Methodist Episcopal Church in Madison.

Re-elected to the board of directors were Krakowicki, Tom Nesbit, Janet Polach and Patricia Weathers.

The agency's social workers, Mary Alyce Beardslee and David Daly, gave presentations illustrating types of cases handled through their services.

Robertson and Janet Quanton stressed the importance of everyone's assistance if this year's United Way fund drive is to be a success. They explained how the drive is to be conducted.

Shortened week to begin at SIUE

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will adopt a 37½-hour workweek on July 1.

Generally, operating hours of university offices will be 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, except as university needs require otherwise. Earl Beard, director of the Office of University Personnel Services, explained that some academic programs and plant operations require other operating hours, and such needs will be accommodated through flextime work schedules.

THE SIU BOARD of Trustees granted authority in December for the shorter workweek, contingent on the development of operating plans for each campus, to be effective July 1. With the exception of the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana, all public universities in the state, as well as employees under the jurisdiction of the State Department of Personnel, have adopted the 37½-hour week.

As Seniors Make It Five Consecutive

Pitching, hitting, hats prove too much for Alton

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY—With a pair of victories over North Division leading Alton on Thursday and Friday, and then another bottom of the seventh inning victory over Highland Sunday, it's obvious why Tri-City Legion Post 113's baseball team has won five games in a row—excellent pitching, great hitting upon cue and did the job.

"The hats are a psychological thing," explained Triplets Coach Dave Coakley. "It puts a smile on their face, gives them a little humor," Coakley said.

What the hats did for the Triplets during Friday's game, it did for Coakley after the game.

"MY FASTBALL just started working for me," Tate said modestly after the game. "That and my slider which features the biggest offensive attraction, the home run, and thirdly, those proverbial inside-out hats.

Lifted from the doldrums last week by a pair of home and away victories against East Alton, Tri-City played giant killers Thursday and Friday as they slew North Division leader Alton 5-3 and 6-5 respectively.

THEN, again on Sunday, the Triplets showed their knack for knocking off a favored team as they took an early lead, relinquished it and then battled back in the bottom of the seventh to whip Highland 7-6.

The string of victories lengthened Tri-City's victory string of victories to five and improves its North Division record to 5-4 and 6-7 overall.

The reason for the Triplets' success lately has been, as mentioned, three things. It's no secret that excellent pitching and hitting are keys to a baseball team's success, but the third factor, their inside-outside hats has teams from Alton to Highland buzzing.

LAST THURSDAY, for example, the Triplets appeared to be on a roll, after taking two from East Alton. This time, their opponent was Alton Pitching for the Triplets was right hander Dan Whitsett.

Whitsett, admittedly, hasn't been at his game lately. But Thursday, with a little help from some banging Triplets bats and an inversion of the hats, he was.

In all, Whitsett went five and two third innings, fanned seven before Jerry Booker came in relief to preserve the 5-3 victory.

The following night, Friday, Alton, looking to get even, came to Granite City. What it didn't know was Sam Tate had different ideas.

TATE, in what was perhaps the best game he's ever pitched, sent down 11 Alton batters on strikes, four consecutive in the fifth and sixth innings.

And, again the hats were called stayed down. I like throwing when it's hot," Tate said.

Hot was as big an understatement as Tate's assessment of his pitching that evening. With temperatures in the mid 80's at game time combined with rain from the night before, the field more closely resembled a sweat box.

"I've seen it before," explained Coach Coakley. "When it's hot, Sammy's hot. He seems to get stronger as the game progresses."

Indeed it appeared that way. With Tate on the mound, Tri-City's offense was free to work its own kind of game. In all, Tri-City scattered nine hits for six runs to beat Alton.

POWERED by Randy Burgess, who scored half of Tri-City's runs, Tri-City simply overpowered the North Division leader. Burgess scored three times — two homers and a walk — and Art Williams, the Triplets' Mr. Clutch, batted in the other three.

Williams' biggest delivery Friday night came in the third inning. With the bases loaded he slapped a shot which initially appeared it would stay fair, but in the last 100 feet or so veered foul.

Four pitches later, however, Williams still delivered, smacking a two-RBI double to left-center field to tie the game at four apiece.

The winning blow came in the bottom of the sixth when Burgess teed off on his second round tripper of the evening. A shot to straight away center field, Burgess beat the relay to the plate to provide the Triplets with the go ahead and winning run.

SUNDAY afternoon's game was equally as exciting. Although the Triplets never allowed Highland to surpass their run total, they twice left Highland equal it.

Behind pitching efforts by Allen Zentgraf, Tim Gray and Tate, Tri-City managed to outdistance Highland in the seventh inning when Steve Davis singled with the bases

HOME RUN HANDSHAKE. Art Williams (in batting helmet) receives the glad hand for the home run he hit in the second inning of Sunday's 7-6 American Legion baseball victory over Highland. Williams' homer was just one of four the loaded, scoring Tate for the game winner.

Tri-City's victory again hinged on the early success of Zentgraf and the big bats, getting those clutch hits.

With the score tied at three going into the bottom of the fifth inning, Williams, Mr. Clutch himself, batted in Tate to put the Triplets back on top.

THEN DAVIS, who would later pick up the game-winning RBI, swatted a double to the left-center field gap, scoring Pat Cathey and Williams to give the Triplets what then seemed a comfortable 6-3 lead.

Highland managed to pick up one run in the sixth and then two more in the half of the seventh to tie the game at seven.

In Tri-City's half of the seventh, Tate reached on a single to left field. Cathey moved Tate to third as he doubled to put runners at second and third.

With first base open, Highland hurler Jeff Gibbons elected to intentionally pass Williams in favor of pitching to Davis.

IT'S EASY to understand why Gibbons did not want to pitch to Williams, but Davis is not one to be taken too lightly either.

"With one out, Davis politely rapped the 4 shot past Highland's shortstop Mark Rosen for the game winning hit."

"I couldn't be happier with the way we've been playing," said Coach Coakley after the game. "We got Williams late in the season and he's been a real boost to our ball club."

"And as for Davis," Coakley said, "he's been a slump lately but he certainly has shown signs of coming out of that."

Coakley then turned his praise towards Tate.

"I really didn't want to go with Sammy because he threw just the other night, but I didn't have any choice. He keeps the ball down and does a good job whenever the team needs him."

AS FOR Zentgraf, Coakley said he too pitched a fine game before he was relieved by Tim Gray in the seventh.

In all, Tri-City utilized three pitchers in the seventh — Zentgraf, Gray and Tate before retiring Seniors made during the weekend which helped boost them past Highland and division leading Alton on Friday. Other round-trippers during the weekend belonged to Shane Cole and Randy Burgess who managed two in Friday's game.

Highland. Zentgraf went six and two-thirds, Gray pitched to two batters and then Tate came in for the final third.

Zedolek wins regional archery tourney

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor

CHATHAM, ILL.—Tony Zedolek, a 21-year-old Granite City man, came from behind last weekend to prove himself as a premier target archer in a five-state area.

Competing in the Great Lakes Sectional Tournament of the National Field Archery Association here, Zedolek won the men's freestyle limited competition of the tourney with 1,050 points out of a possible 1,120.

IN FREESTYLE limited competition, archers are permitted to use bow sights, but not trigger release aids, Zedolek explained.

Using his 30-pound PSE Laser Magnum compound bow, Zedolek shot at 28 field archery targets spaced at five-foot intervals from 16 feet to 80 yards.

The following day, on Sunday, June 17, Zedolek overcame his six-point deficit to outshoot his opponents and win his respective division.

Sunday's competition was much like the previous day's except the distances did not increase in increments.

INSTEAD, archers shot at random targets with varying distances. Shooting at 14 hunter targets in the morning and another 14 animal targets in the afternoon, Zedolek excelled in the second day of competition to surpass the division leader to win the championship.

"They do that the second day to make the competition stiffer, make it more difficult to figure your shots," Zedolek said of the varying distances.

Winning both a plaque and medal for his efforts, Zedolek said it was thus far his biggest success to date as an archer. Winning over entries from Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana and Ohio as well as other participants from Illinois, Zedolek credits much of his success to his coach Larry Lane of Lane's archery.

"I OWE a lot of my success to Larry," Zedolek said of Lane. "Not only is he a good coach, but he's a good friend as well."

Zedolek who has been an archer for 10 years, and shooting competitively for the last three years, uses Easton aluminum shaft target arrows and draws the bow 25 inches.

Zedolek, a 1980 graduate of Granite City High School South, is the son of Tony and Loretta Zedolek of in Granite City.

'A survivor,' Schmidt says he'll continue to race

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

Sometimes part of what makes an activity a sport and so beloved by its participants seems to be the amount of risk involved in participating in that sport. For example, ask a professional mountain climber what attracts him to the sport and he may tell you it's the natural high he gets from "cheating death."

Or perhaps, a professional high diver. Someone who dives into 12 feet of water from a 100-plus foot high platform may tell you the same thing.

Or what about professional racing drivers who speed down a dragstrip at breakneck speeds exceeding 140 miles per hour. All of these are sports with risk factors — sports where a slip may cost its participant a lot more than losing the game.

RISK FACTORS are what make these sports more daring than, say, volleyball or golf. And, it's the risk factors, they'll tell you that keeps them coming back for more.

One person who is well acquainted with the risk factor in sports is Granite Cityan and racer Wally Schmidt.

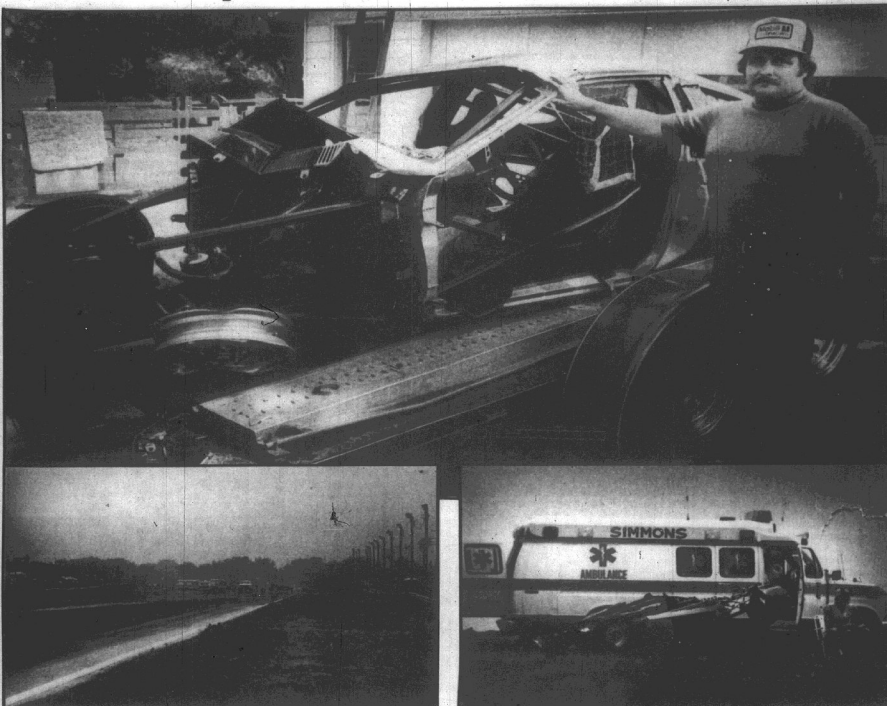

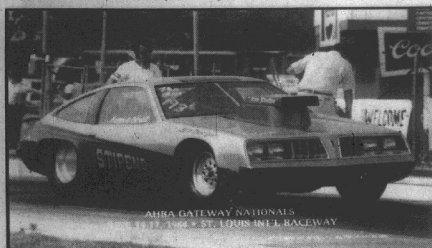

Schmidt, 34, an electrician at Granite City Steel is the driver whose Pro Gas car crashed last Sunday at the Gateway Nationals.

It was shortly before 1 p.m. last Sunday, the final day of the Gateway Nationals, when Schmidt drove his Pro Gas No. 193 1979 Pontiac Sunbird up to the starting line.

In the left lane, Schmidt revved the 468 cubic inch Pontiac Rammer

'Ugly' Mitchell squeezes by Greenville, 7-4

By CHARLIE SKAER
of the Press-Record

MITCHELL — Coach Myron Merz chuckled on the sidelines Friday as his Mitchell Junior Legion baseball team took a 7-4 lead over Greenville. "Maybe we don't do it in the prettiest ways," Merz said with a wide smile during the fifth inning. "But we got it done."

Merz was referring to a squeeze play that capped the team's four-run rally in the inning. The rally pushed Mitchell on top for the first time in the ball game and proved to be all that the team needed for a 7-4 victory.

As Merz said, the successful squeeze play didn't come off in the most professional-looking manner. Nonetheless, it brought home a safety run for Mitchell. With Derek Merz on third and Tim Gray at the plate, the third base coach signaled for the squeeze.

WHEN GRAY shifted into a bunting stance, he almost got decked as the pitch was high and inside. He stumbled backward, but somehow managed to get a piece of the ball and lay down a low bunt. As Merz raced home, Gray kept moving backward in a daze while the ball stayed fair.

By the time Gray finally caught his momentum, the Greenville pitcher had already fielded the ball and thrown to first. Gray wound up farther away from first than when he went up to bat.

"First base is the other way," joked one player as Gray returned to the dugout.

"I WAS just getting out of the way," said Gray, smiling. "That pitch was coming right at me." Although a bit shaken by the play, Gray seemed relieved that it was over. It was the team's fourth successful squeeze play this season in as many attempts.

"It was a pretty good move by (third base coach) Larry Gray to signal the play," said coach Merz. "If you can get an extra run, why not take it? We've been successful with it every time so far this year."

"Last time we played Greenville, we were ahead 7-0 and wound up winning 12-11. So we knew that could come back at us."

FRIDAY'S game took on a different start than the teams' first matchup on June 8. Greenville batters tagged Mitchell pitcher Eric Gray with five hits and three runs in the first inning. The battle-from-behind situation was uncommon for the Mitchell players, who upped their record Friday to 10-2.

"We're usually the ones to get our runs early in the game," said Merz. "When we sit back and don't do anything unless they get ahead of us. But tonight we had to come back from the beginning."

THE MITCHELL players used some help from Greenville in the bottom of the first to start their comeback. Greg Nemeth was given a leadoff walk and later stole second. A wild pitch by Greenville, hurler Mark Bollinger then moved Nemeth to third.

Billy Moore hit a ground ball to third baseman Steve Duncan, who had Nemeth caught running toward home. Duncan threw home, but Nemeth used some fancy footwork to avoid the tag by catcher Shawn Merry. Nemeth lunged to his right out of the reach of Merry, then ran a few feet to touch home for Mitchell's first run.

MOORE stole second and followed to score the team's second run when Derek Merz launched a long fly ball that center fielder Glen Knight dropped. Even though Mitchell failed to get a hit in the inning, they had found themselves back in the ball game with a 3-2 score.

"Our outfield play hurt us more than anything," said Greenville coach Lonnie Griffiths. "You can't afford to make mistakes and expect to win. If they hadn't scored in the first, it would have been a different kind of ball game."

MITCHELL, however, returned the favor with an error in the third. Monty Brown started the inning with a leadoff triple to left. Gray struck out the next two batters and seemed intent on keeping Brown from scoring. But instead of getting the third out off a grounder by Joe Ketchum, Gray watched third baseman Moore throw wildly over first which allowed Brown to score.

Moore, however, made up for the mistake by scoring a run in the bottom of the inning. With two outs, he hit a short bloop to left that dropped in for a single. After stealing second, he was driven in by Merz, who knocked a single through a hole at second. The run put Mitchell back within one, 4-3.

GRAY then followed by throwing nine straight strikes to put a quick end to the Greenville batters in the fourth.

"I've got a lot of confidence in Eric," said coach Merz. "He's competitive. But when they (his teammates) make errors in the field, it hurts."

"Sometimes you'd like to be able to bring everybody in to pitch and show them how hard it is. If they all knew what it felt like to be working hard and then be let down when someone makes an error, maybe there wouldn't be as many mistakes."

Mitchell's scoring drive in the fifth started off with a leadoff triple by Nemeth. Fred Becker followed with a single and Moore then cracked a double in the gap between left and center field to drive in what proved to be the winning run.

GRIFITHS replaced pitcher Bollinger with reliever Bob Dealey. But Merz upped Mitchell's lead to 6-4 when he hit a double to right. Merz advanced to third on a ground out by Greg Ehlers and then scored on the squeeze play.

"We worked hard and came back," said coach Merz, whose team had only a one-day rest after playing games in six straight days. "We seemed down when we lost our last game (on Wednesday against Edwinstown). But the boys stayed in there tonight."

LEADING hitters for Mitchell were Moore and Merz, who drove in four runs by each recording a double and a single. Nemeth also proved hot at the plate, hitting a triple and a double. Eric Gray recorded the win, striking out six and walking just one.

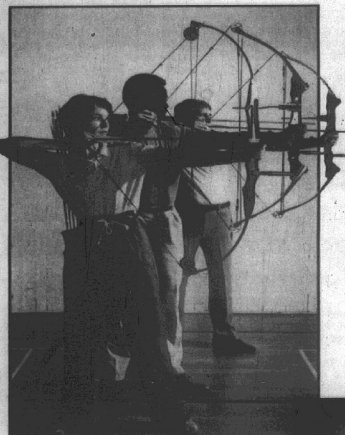

Mitchell's next game is slated for 6 p.m. Tuesday at home against Edwinstown. The team will travel to Duplo for a double-header Wednesday starting at 6 p.m.

World Record Holder

Lindsay esteeming a new aspect of his diving

By CHARLIE SKAER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Things are looking up for former world high diving champion Dave Lindsay.

The 27-year-old Granite City native officially retired from high diving competition this spring. But Lindsay says the move won't prevent him from reaching for new heights of a different kind in a business he recently accepted in several other ventures related to his diving skills.

Lindsay's latest effort came last week when he spent three days coaching the Paddlers' diving team in Granite City, a squad he was a member of about 12 years ago. Lindsay said he gladly accepted an invitation from Gayle McCormick to take over the coaching duties for the three days she was out of town during the latter part of the week.

"GAYLE HAS a good program here," said Lindsay, speaking from experience. While Lindsay was a member of the Paddlers team, McCormick was his diving coach. "She heard I was going to be in town and I was happy to substitute for her."

It was Lindsay's first opportunity to coach the Paddlers team, although not his first coaching experience. Lindsay spent four years coaching springboard diving at Daytona Beach Community College in Florida.

"The divers here are at a real disadvantage," said Lindsay. "These kids only have six weeks to prepare before championships. In the south, the kids can dive all year long."

"A LOT of the kids here are really capable of producing. But they have to work about five times harder than the kids in the south."

Lindsay said he introduced new dives to the youngsters during the majority of the time he spent with the Paddlers.

"I was trying to teach them new dives instead of dealing too much with technique and style. If you bring in a new coach who has different techniques and styles from the usual coach, it can confuse the kids. I just tried to push the kids to work hard and try new dives."

Lindsay, too, is trying some new things in his own life. After diving in water shows for the past six years, Lindsay decided to start his own company — Acapulco Productions.

"WHEN people think of high diving, they automatically think of Acapulco," said Lindsay, explaining the name for his company. "I would love to put on a show around here. I'm really going to pursue that possibility."

Lindsay said his company expects to get its first major contract later this summer with the opening of Heritage USA, a Christian-based recreational park in South Carolina. He said he also is negotiating with Busch Gardens in Tampa, Fla., for the 1986 season.

"There isn't too much competition in the high diving business," said Lindsay. "On the other hand, there isn't much demand. Most of the amusement parks are already saturated, so your time has to be centered around creating demands with new markets."

APART from the new company, Lindsay said he also has contacted the producers of the P.T.I. television show in an effort to start a sports program for Christian athletes.

"We'd be providing a platform for athletes to give their testimony," said Lindsay, who would like to be host of the show. "We'd be putting together a portable team that could travel around and talk to various athletes."

Lindsay said religion has carried a more important role in his life after he broke a world's record with a 210-foot dive in 1982 and won the world high diving championships in 1981 and 1982.

"IF YOU believe that someone's guiding you and protecting you, it makes you more willing to perceive your goals and achieve them," he said.

Lindsay was forced out of the 1983 diving championships when he broke his left leg during a 100-foot dive Dec. 19, 1982, in Kingston, Jamaica.

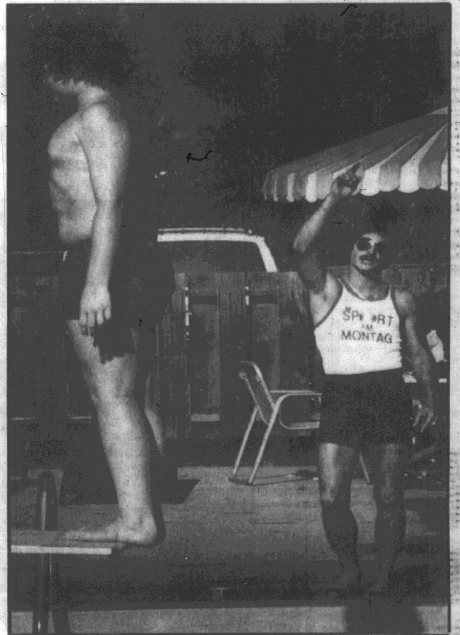

"It was at night and the lighting was terrible," said Lindsay. "I honestly didn't see the surface of the water. Instead of being light and rigid like you're supposed to be when you hit the water, I was relaxed."

Lindsay's retirement from the sport, however, didn't come until during the 1984 high diving championships held in March at Sea World in Orlando, Fla.

"I hit the water and my leg went sideways at the knee," he said. "It was a 90-foot dive. I said, 'My legs aren't made for this any more.' That's when I decided to retire."

Lindsay said he will likely stay in Granite City until he hears further word about the summer contract at Heritage USA. He said he'll keep busy by trying to get some diving contracts in the area.

"I don't expect to take the world by surprise," said Lindsay, commenting about the future of his business. "But I hope to be going strong in a few years."

Spanky's split with Vanzo's, Royals

By AL BARNES
of the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE — The weather, almost certainly, again played a key role in the fortunes of 7-Up/Spanky's baseball club in the three games posted since last Thursday night here at Hoppe Park.

Saturday night, a drenching rain in the last half of the fifth gave 7-Up/Spanky's a 2-1 victory over the Springfield (Ill.) Bud Lites. Thursday night, however, at Hoppe, the rain stopped in time for Edwarsville's Vanzo's to top Coach Bill Stoltz's Spanky's charges, 10-8, in nine innings. The early going was marred by an almost steady downpour.

It was Vanzo's "home" game and they took an early 1-0 lead in the first frame in an early trial of errors (seven for the game) made at crucial times by Spanky's. The chief victim of the Spanky's errors, of course, was tanky Vince Frederick, who pitched good enough to win nine out of 10 normal games.

Vanzo's moved out to a 5-2 lead after three frames. But Spanky's took the lead back, 7-6, in the top of the sixth on Keith Hoskinson's three-run shot over the left-field fence, his fifth of the season.

But, in the bottom of the sixth, three straight fielding and throwing errors by Spanky's, gave Vanzo's four tainted runs and made the score 10-7 in their favor. The losers added one run in the eighth to complete the scoring.

Friday night at Festus, Mo., Spanky's romped to a 11-4 nine-inning victory over the Royals. Gerry Gerken's gained the win for Spanky's as he fanned nine and walked only four. He's now 2-2 for the season.

Roger Hill's two-on homer in the fourth gave Spanky's an 8-0 lead as he led all batters with two-for-six and five runs batted in. Festus' first baseman, Ed Pruneau, easily won batting honors for the game as he cracked out two homers and drove in all four of the losers' runs.

Saturday night in the rain-shortened 3-1 victory over Springfield, Spanky's apparently found themselves a "winning" pitcher in Belleville's Tim Rakers who limited the visitors to just three hits.

Spanky's took an early one-run lead in the bottom of the third when, with one out, Jack Scarborough doubled and went third on a wild pitch by Springfield's hard-throwing Bill Callahan. Bill Stoltz was safe on the first baseman's error as Scarborough crossed home plate.

Two straight singles in the top of the fourth led to Springfield's run tying the score at 1-1 and with the rain coming down.

In the last of the fifth and it obvious that the rain would soon stop all play for the rest of the night and with one out, Jack Scarborough walked. Roger Hill, who is rapidly becoming Spanky's "Mister Clutch," doubted to put runners at third and second.

Player manager Bill Stoltz's single scored both Scarborough and Hill, making the score 3-1. And, at this point, the heavens really opened and it rained and rained.

It made Spanky's record now, 13-8. Tonight, Spanky's will battle it out with the St. Louis Knights at Maryville College in West St. Louis County starting at 7:30 p.m.

Linhart among WIU's brainy footballers

John Linhart, a 1983 graduate of Granite City South and member of the Western Illinois University football team, has been cited for his academic accomplishments in addition to his gridiron achievements.

Linhart, a business major at WIU, maintained a 3.07 average last year on the Leathernecks' 4.0 scale.

In fact, some 50 WIU football players' grades averaged over 2.5 during the recent spring semester.

Quad-Cityans fare well in golf tournament

Five Quad-City golfers fared well in the annual Golf Tournament for Madison County school personnel. The tournament was held on June 7 and 8 at the Cloverleaf Golf Course in Alton.

In the men's competition, Madison High School's Charlie Steptoe was named the most honest golfer of the tournament.

The winner of the championship bracket was Dick Gerber of Edwardsville, followed by Curt Fass, Highland, Steve Prosser, Bethalto, and Keith Atkinson, Wood River.

who were winners of the Class A, B and C tournaments respectively.

Women's competition was dominated by Granite Citians. Turning the best score without a handicap was Judy Russell of Granite City.

Tying for top honors in the A High were Joan Harris and Wilma Schulze, both of Granite City.

Frances Page, also of Granite City, was named the most honest women golfer, rounding out the Granite City's honorees.

Schmidt

engine in his car called Stipend. Across from him in the other lane was his competition in that race Bob Rogers of Kansas City, Mo.

As the lights on the Christmas Tree blinked down to green, Schmidt sat strapped in the Pontiac, not knowing what was in store for him just seconds away.

"I took perhaps a one car length after the start," Schmidt said. "Things seemed alright for most of the ride."

Then about 100 to 200 feet from the finish lights, Schmidt's sixth sense about driving told him something was wrong.

"I glanced at my oil pressure gauge. It read about about 90 pounds per square inch, which is okay. Then, I don't know why, I looked over my shoulder, my right shoulder, and saw a puff of smoke. At that instant the car began skating. First to the left and then to the right. I think it was then that I knew I wasn't going to pull out of this one," Schmidt said.

SCHMIDT, his machinist, Jim Moran, and others affiliated with the car, speculate that the car's oil filter gasket blew away from inbetween the engine and the filter which sent oil spewing all over the track.

The result was a slickened road way which made traction and driving utterly impossible.

"I was going about 145 miles per hour at the time the back end starting skating," Schmidt said. "I knew something was wrong, but at first I didn't know what. I remember thinking 'I didn't blow the engine' because I didn't feel the car slow down as it would have when you blow an engine."

ABOUT THAT time, Schmidt said he felt the front left wheel slide off the "cap" of the track, further hindering his ability to correct the skating automobile.

"I remember seeing the guard rail and that I was getting closer to it. I remember thinking 'please don't let the same thing that happened to Steve Bagwell happen to me,'" Schmidt said.

During the 1974 Gateway Nationals, Bagwell's auto left the track, jumped the guardrail and landed in the stands, killing three people.

"My main concern was trying to stay on the track. Try not to use the brakes and ride it out. "BY THEN, winning was the farthest thing from my mind. I knew, if somehow, I could just control this thing to a stop. I'd be enough of a winner for me."

But fate would not let that happen. After skating from side to side and after the front left wheel went off the track, Schmidt thinks that same tire blew, sending him into a tumble and then a series of rolls before the car finally came to rest in the other lane.

"I remember the first tumble and the last three rolls," Schmidt said. "I remember the first because I could see it coming, and the last three rolls because my helmet banged against the roll bar on each roll. Inbetween the tumble and the last three rolls I don't remember what happened."

SCHMIDT said as he saw his car begin the first tumble and it was obvious that he was not going to "recover" from the skating, he reached up to hit the engine kill switch, directly above his head. In the brief time that it took for him to do that, or as much as he can remember, it was over.

"I don't think I blacked out. It just all happened that fast. I remember getting a queasy feeling just before I began the tumblers," Schmidt said.

In all, American Hot Rod Association spotters say Schmidt's car went through the mile per hour lights and then rolled seven before coming to a stop.

"IT SOUNDS like it took a lot of time for all this to happen, but actually it must've occurred in less than two seconds. You'd be surprised with everything you can think of in a period of two seconds," Schmidt said.

Schmidt said he estimated his speed before the incident at 145 mph. In the final 200 feet before the finish lights — the distance covering the accident — Schmidt's speed, while tumbling and rolling was electronically clocked at 102.28 mph as it went through the mile per hour lights before coming to a stop on its hood in the adjacent lane.

RECEIVING only an abrasion on his left arm, Schmidt was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for tests, as required by the A.H.R.A.

"As for surviving that kind of accident, Schmidt takes a somewhat casual approach.

"Everyone I talk to is surprised when I tell them I'm going to continue racing. But even though you build a roll bar never intending to use it, sometime you might."

"Don't get me wrong. I wasn't exactly anxious to crawl back into another car right away and I have worn my seat belt in my family car ever since, but I'll race again. It has scared me off."

SCHMIDT said he had similar experiences in racing, and calls himself a survivor. "I've always been a survivor. I guess part of stems from the year I spent in the infantry in Vietnam."

As for the $20,000 car, Seldon Rawce, the car's owner, gave Schmidt a vote of confidence after the incident saying, "the car is replaceable, but a friend isn't."

And for the car, Schmidt said he's going to build another. "All you can do is go out and pick up all the little pieces that you can for the next car," Schmidt said.

Commission surprise target of reform effort this year

By Ken Watson
SPRINGFIELD—The commission reform drive has become the big surprise of the Illinois legislative session.

The House vote of 102-4 to abolish some 50 legislative commissions was stunning in itself. It does not, however, mean the end of the matter. The Senate has yet to be heard from and further controversy probably lies ahead.

The blitzkrieg in the House resulted from the unique bipartisan alliance formed by Democratic House Speaker Mike Madigan and Minority Leader Lee Daniels, R-Elmhurst. Their superbly orchestrated campaign, following closely on an excellent documented "Report on Legislative Commissions" by the House Republican Policy Committee and strong editorial support from newspapers, annihilated any opposition.

House members, many if reluctantly, hopped aboard the reform bandwagon. Few dared speak against the Daniels-Madigan bill. One who did was Rep. Al Ronan, D-Chicago. He termed the legislation "an overreaction... a public relations hype," and said it would translate into more power for legislative leaders. Other critics called it "political posturing" and "only a partial solution to the problem."

No one in the Legislature seems to question that there is a problem with commissions. So noted Assistant Minority Leader Sam Vinson, R-Clinton, who said in floor debate, "It's time to end the abuses of the past."

But cynicism about the sudden rush to reform was reflected in some heckling of Daniels during his presentation. The usually mild-mannered Daniels lashed back at his hecklers, daring them to oppose the bill. Earlier, Daniels had told a news conference that "the die is cast; we are moving forward."

What little help he might have needed in selling his proposal was promptly forthcoming from Madigan, who had opposed similar legislation last year. Said Madigan: "My concern is with the budgetary management of the present commission system. The problems are such that they demand legislative action to at least change the system."

The ball now bounces across the

Special ed parents planning fall classes

Parents for Special Education met for a planning session on establishing a "college" for special education adults. College for Independence is the name the group decided on.

Courses planned are: auto repair, computers, cooking, budgeting, change making, reading, sewing, typing, vocational and welding. Parents for Special Education have received a mini-grant of $2,500 from the Governor's Planning Council for the Developmentally Disabled.

Classes are being planned for the fall semester, with the cost tentatively set at $20 per course.

Coordinator Bob Gagliano said the following volunteered to teach: Henry Helrich, Dave Syling, Bob and Arla Milhorn, Melba Grady, Brenda York, Dorothy Lijewski, Carolyn Smed, Bernice Myers, Terry Green, Paul McCord, Kay Hahne and Gen Helrich.

Team teaching will be done for each course. Substitute volunteer teachers are Barb Schmidke, Audrey Pithen and Joyce Syling. Melba Grady of the college can be contacted at 877-5806.

Out-of-town trio arrested in area

Called to a parking area in the 3600 block of Namook Road, where a large group of youths had congregated last week, police arrested three men from out of town who were in or near a van.

In the vehicle, officers alleged finding open cans of beer and a plastic bag with four smaller bags inside, containing greenish-brown vegetation. A clip and burnt cigarette also were allegedly found.

Jeffrey W. Kelley, 21, of Colodon, Ill., and Billy G. Rader, 20, and Ronald K. Winkewer, 19, both of Ullin, Ill., were all charged with unlawful possession of cannabis and illegal possession of alcohol.

All three men pleaded guilty to the charges in a court appearance and were released to pay fines of $250 each by July 20.

PUBLIC SERVICE, JAIL, PROBATION, FINE, COSTS

A six-element sentence has been ordered by Associate Judge Charles Romani for Steven Duniphan, 2232 Alexander Ave., who pleaded guilty May 4 to a March 15 burglary charge.

He is to serve six months in jail as well as 30 months of probation, work 75 hours in public service and pay a $600 fine, $60 special costs and $90 court costs.

Statehouse rotunda to the Senate. It will be interesting to see if the groundswell of legislative and popular support for meaningful commission reform will continue to roll.

There, a bipartisan alliance similar to the Daniels-Madigan team in the House, and composed of Democratic Senate President Phil Rock and Republican leader James "Pete" Philip, is pushing commission reform legislation far more limited in scope than the House version.

There is a good chance that the Senate will reject the Daniels-Madigan bill. It already has passed the Rock-Philip bill. This doubtless will be promptly rejected by the House, setting the stage for a showdown in a House-Senate conference committee.

Meanwhile, the mushrooming drive to drastically slash, if not virtually abolish, the traditional commission system is causing near panic among many state employees, fearful of losing their jobs. Estimates are that the Daniels-Madigan reform proposal will save $7 million or more. Much of this will be travel and office expenses, but obviously a lot of employees will be scrapped along with the commissions themselves.

There has been continuing nervousness among legislative employees since the reduction of the House by 59 members in 1982 resulted in layoffs. Further reduction in state jobs due to the recent financial crisis has added to job concerns.

The era when landing a state job meant security, tranquility, plenty of time off and a ticket to a comfortable retirement has passed. Like workers in the private sector, state employees increasingly have to take their chances. They certainly are not very happy about it.

It is regrettable that innocent people must suffer in any effort to limit or reduce the seemingly ever-rising cost of government. But in this case the abuses in the legislative commission system are clearly there — too many commissions accomplish little or nothing while spending too freely. Voters and taxpayers are justified in demanding that something at last be done to end the abuses.

Testing of new teachers urged

State Rep. Sam Wolf (Granite City) is backing competency testing for teachers before they go into the profession, not after.

"I believe it is unfair to ask people already teaching to pass a test," Wolf said. "However, I see no problem in establishing a basic standard of skills for people who want to go into teaching."

The Illinois House has approved House Bill 3218, which asks the Illinois State Board of Education to establish a test for basic skills applicable to persons seeking a teaching certificate after July 1, 1988. Wolf voted for the bill.

"By waiting until 1988 to begin testing, we will give the teaching institutions of this state time to overhaul their curriculum to make sure their graduates receive the training needed to pass such a test," he explained.

"Otherwise, people who would be excellent teachers might be penalized because of their lack of proper training in college, and prevented from becoming teachers."

"Twenty states, however, or will have in the near future, competency testing for teachers in areas such as basic skills, subject-matter knowledge, pedagogy, knowledge or some combination of these."

"Our hope is that the test will force the teaching colleges to improve their standards and produce better teachers."

What Ever Happened To Joe?

Did He Die? Move Away? Is He Mad?

You know Joe. He's the guy that used to come in your business quite often and he bought quite a few things. But Joe hasn't been around for awhile. Makes you wonder why, doesn't it?

Joe may be the same old Joe he ever was. Happy, healthy and a good customer. But he may now be someone else's customer. No, you say, Joe always got good service here and he was a satisfied customer.

Maybe. But Joe might have been reading our newspaper and read one of your competitor's ads and decided to give someone else a try. He may be getting good service and is a satisfied customer, but it may now be down the street.

What can you do? Just write Joe off? No, don't give up so easily. Advertise to get Joe back. And while you're at it, you'll probably be helping keep Jane and John, Dick and Sally and all of your other customers coming in the door regularly.

Will Cong. Paul Simon's turnabout damage his image?

By Robert Estill
WASHINGTON — Will the real vacillator in the U.S. Senate race in Illinois please stand up?

Kathleen Lydon, Sen. Charles Percy's press secretary, said Rep. Paul Simon's recent repudiation of any association with a "New Right" fund-raising group is a "flip flop" that shows the Makanda Democrat is a "master vacillator."

Not so, said Simon, who has frequently accused Senate rival Percy of vacillating.

"He (Percy) is champion in that field by far and will remain the undisputed champion," Simon said.

What brings the vacillating issue once more to the foreground in the Senate contest is Simon's recent rejection of any ties with the National Conservative Political Action Committee (NCPAC).

The surprise to most observers came not when Simon recently disavowed NCPAC but in his welcoming in May of support from NCPAC and other "New Right" leaders who see Percy, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, as an obstacle to a more conservative foreign policy.

Simon's welcoming of support from NCPAC struck a dissonant chord. In 1982, NCPAC targeted the liberal Simon for defeat when he was running for re-election to the House. At that time, Simon rapped the conservative funding arm for having conducted a "hit-and-run smear campaign" against liberal senators in 1980.

Despite that background, Simon said he welcomed NCPAC's efforts but maintained his disdain for the negative campaign tactics for which NCPAC is well known.

Simon did not break clearly with NCPAC until Monday when Brad Zerbe, NCPAC's political director, left a message with Simon's campaign headquarters that he wanted to discuss running a conservative Senate candidate.

An independent candidate would have virtually no chance of winning in Illinois, but such a candidacy could pull votes from Percy, Simon instructed Tom Pazzi, his campaign manager, to write NCPAC and tell them the Simon campaign "has not sought, does not want and will not accept" the support of NCPAC or Terry Dolan, the group's executive director.

"There is no reason for us to have any contact whatsoever," Pazzi said in the letter to Dolan. "We have little, if anything, in common and your support must appear disingenuous."

Lydon said the Percy position from the outset has been that Simon's welcoming of support from NCPAC would hurt Simon and help Percy with liberals, moderates and independents who have backed Percy and Simon in past campaigns when they were not pitted against each other.

She said Simon's recent disavowal still could hurt Simon in the fall.

"He is trying to play catch-up, but I think the damage is already done," she said.

Lydon contended Simon has lost a degree of credibility and appears indecisive.

Simon, however, maintained his handling of the situation was not a matter of indecision and has not cost him any support.

He said he has not been taking any heat from his backers, although a few have expressed concern about NCPAC help. He said he instructed Pazzi to write the letter because he did not want to be involved in any third candidate effort.

"Frankly, NCPAC's tactics always have concerned me," Simon said in an interview. "And this was an opportunity to say we don't want to have that association."

Although Simon contends it was the effort to enlist his help in the third candidate effort that spurred the letter, that move should have come as no surprise. The NCPAC and other "New Right" spokesmen said in May that they wanted to find a conservative candidate to enter the race.

Simon, however, draws the line between welcoming support from conservatives and joining with NCPAC in an effort to recruit another candidate.

Simon might have been better off politically if he had disavowed NCPAC's direct or indirect help from the outset.

A clear, initial disavowal would have been consistent with Simon's earlier opposition to NCPAC tactics. It would have avoided creating any impression he was willing to align with those whose views are diametrically opposed to his own in order to strengthen his candidacy. It would have eliminated the need for the clear break later that the Percy aide contends makes Simon appear indecisive.

And, perhaps more importantly, it would not have diminished in the slightest NCPAC's opposition to Percy. The conservative group is not pro-Simon; it is just ardently anti-Percy.

"Simon can do less damage as a freshman member of the minority party (in the Senate) than Percy can as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee," said Brad Mont, a NCPAC spokesman.

Mont said he is not sure what Simon is repudiating because NCPAC was not endorsing Simon, just opposing Percy.

He said the group will continue to hunt for a conservative candidate to run as an independent in the fall campaign. If such a candidate cannot be recruited, NCPAC's chances of success, Mont said, are uncertain.

But he did not rule out the possibility NCPAC still will conduct an anti-Percy advertising campaign in Illinois.

There is a curious footnote to the NCPAC Senate saga. While NCPAC wants to unseat Simon's rival, it also has targeted for defeat a Simon protégé and close ally, freshman Rep. Richard Durbin, D-Springfield, Durbin, opposed by Sangamon County Board Chairman Richard Austin, is one of 15 representatives that NCPAC is out to beat this year.

"When you consider the group and what they stand for, in a way I think it is an honor to be targeted by an extremist group like this," Durbin said.

Durbin said Simon will not be hurt by the NCPAC flap because "his record of 30 years is just as clear as a bell; he does not stand for what these people stand for."

Nurses from BAC celebrate their ten-year reunion

A small group of Belleville Area College's 1974 nursing program graduates had stayed in touch, gathering at least once a year at someone's home.

This year, for their 10th anniversary, that group decided to do something special. "It really was a group effort," said Nancy Koleson, a graduate who is now head of the nursing program at McKendree College.

"There has always been a group of us that stayed in touch and got together once a year. Just after Christmas, I had everyone over to my house."

"SOMEONE JUST came up with the idea. We had one meeting, everyone took a job and just did it," Koleson said they managed to track down most of the approximately 50 members of their class for the reunion at Fischer's Restaurant, Saturday, June 16.

While the talk at the reunion was of surgical procedures, the rise of out patient clinics and the Medicare payment, the graduates came back for the same reasons everyone returns to class reunions.

JACKIE SKARR, originally Jackie Greenlee of Belleville, and her husband, Ollie, came from Story City, Iowa "just to see everyone and hear what they are doing."

Skarr said her BAC nursing education has served her well. She has worked as a surgical nurse for the past six years. "The nursing program at BAC was very well-rounded, a good program," she said. "I've had no problems picking up anything else I've needed to know."

For Pat and Ken Augustine, the reunion was extra special. Pat Elmore met her future husband, Ken Augustine, in that 1974 nursing class. Now they both work at Memorial Hospital.

KEN SAID That being a male nurse is not that unusual. About 10 percent of the 1974 class was male. "There's not that much reaction any more," he said. "Kids learn that anyone can be anything," chimed in Pat. "They have male nurses on Sesame Street."

Ken went into the field after being assigned to the medical field while in the military. He liked the field, but decided medical school was not for him. BAC's nursing program was the answer. While many of the 1974 nursing graduates have desk jobs, Ken has stayed a bedside nurse.

Gloria Anderson, Gloria Cason when at BAC, loves her job. An occupational health nurse at the Federal Center in St. Louis, her job combines duties with regular hours.

SHE HELPS GIVE annual examinations to federal employees, including specialized exams for workers who may be exposed to unusual or hazardous conditions. "I was a licensed practical nurse and went to BAC to be a registered nurse," she said. "As long as you're nursing, you might as well go all the way."

"I loved school. I came back for the fellowship and to see what everyone is doing."

SIUE program opens for school nurses

The School of Nursing at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has received approval from the Illinois State Board of Education to offer a program leading to the School Service Personnel Certificate for School Nurses.

The program will be available as an option for both generic nursing students and registered nurses in the university's bachelor of science in nursing degree program. Nurses currently holding BSN degrees are also eligible to enroll in the program.

SINCE 1976, the criteria for school nurse endorsement have included: a baccalaureate degree, licensure as a registered professional nurse in Illinois, an internship in a school setting with a certified mentor and a minimum of 30 undergraduate or graduate credit hours in specified coursework.

Mandatory coursework will include studies in such areas as public health nursing theory and practice, human growth and development, community health problems, educational psychology, sociology, educational foundations, and the exceptional child.

In addition to the specified coursework, the program will involve an internship in a school setting with a certified school nurse mentor four days a week. The fifth day will be spent in classes on campus and at a practicum seminar with a clinical instructor who will also monitor the school sites.

"IF WE ARE TO promote preventive health care, it needs to start in the schools. The school nurse can be a focus for this kind of orientation," Marcia Custer, assistant professor of nursing at the university, said. Physical fitness, nutritional awareness, stress management, environmental sensitivity and self-responsibility are some of the positive outcomes of preventive health care, and the school nurse should help educators promote these concepts in the health curriculum. For example, the answers to such questions as: "Do I have to always be in conflict with my parents?" "Is it so important to make all A's?" and "How do I avoid stressful situations?" can be built into health classes, she said.

In discussing how school nurses can help dissipate anxiety for youngsters, Mrs. Custer said, "Parents often don't realize the burden they place on their children to achieve."

Persons interested in the program should contact Lois Cady, assistant dean for academic affairs, at 1-692-3956 for additional information or to make an appointment for a transcript analysis.

SIUE to dispose of Alton property

Disposal of an Alton house and lot, owned by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville but not being used by the university, has been authorized by the SIUE Board of Trustees.

The board voted to transfer title to the property at 3220 College Ave., Alton to the Illinois Department of Central Management Services (IDCMS). The property consists of a house approximately 350 by 160 feet, and a 14-room two-story, brick and frame residence.

The IDCMS has prescribed procedures for disposal of state real property. The department will first advertise it for transfer to other units of state government. If there is no interest, it will then advertise the property for sale to units of local government, and, as a last measure if needed, advertise it for sale to the public. Any proceeds from a sale will be deposited to the state General Revenue Fund.

The SIUE School of Dental Medicine began operations in Alton in 1969 on the former Shurtliff College campus. The property at 3220 College Ave. was acquired in 1971 as part of the campus but was not used by the university because of its inconvenient location. Over the intervening years, the house was leased by Madison County Mental Health Center, Inc. but it has not been used for some time and the lease has been cancelled, SIUE officers said.

Bukalski named dean of fine arts

The appointment of Peter J. Bukalski of Pasadena, Calif., as dean of the School of Fine Arts and Communications at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was announced by Barbara J. Telers, vice president and provost.

The appointment, subject to approval by the SIUE Board of Trustees, is effective July 9. Bukalski will fill the position on a permanent basis that has been vacant since Hollis White was named acting associate vice president for personnel and budget in the Office of the Vice President and Provost in September 1982. He had been dean of the school 11 years. William Tarwater, professor in the School of Fine Arts and Communications, has been acting dean during the interim.

SIUE students housing picture brightens

Conversions from family units into spaces for single students has dramatically increased the general availability of housing in Tower Lake Apartments on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

There is still time to reserve housing for the fall quarter, according to Linda Wense, supervisor of the University Housing office. "The conversion from family apartments to single units allows us to accommodate more students," she said.

THESE CHANGES are based upon careful assessment of student needs, with projections as to the kind of housing that will be part of the demand of the future, Miss Wense explained. "For years, we have been trying to get ourselves into the position where we don't have to deal with long waiting lists and the resultant anxieties they can create."

Applications are available now for fall quarter housing, with options for private or shared bedrooms. Those applying should state their preference on the application, Miss Wense stated.

"In addition, applicants may apply for housing prior to actually being admitted to the university," she explained. "If by some chance admission does not go through, the deposit, which is $50 for singles, and $100 for family units, is refundable, of course."

MISS WENSE SAID preference will still be given to single students now living in the existing area, "but the situation is such that we can give much wider coverage to the full range of applicants. It's still a good idea to apply as soon as possible."

To apply for Tower Lake housing, applications should be completed, signed and returned, with the appropriate deposit, to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Busan's Office, Box 42, Edwardsville, Ill. 62026.

Tower Lake housing is reserved for full-time students, which means the completion of 12 credit hours per quarter for undergraduates or a hours for graduate students.

APPLICANTS FOR family housing should provide proof of eligibility, which means a marriage certificate for couples, or birth certificates for children of single parents.

The monthly rental charges for single student housing are $122 per month for a shared bedroom, and $184 per month for a private bedroom. Family housing ranges from $315 per month to $410. Payment schedules are available from the University's Housing Office. "Tower Lake was designed to provide a living environment conducive to all residents making the most of the opportunity for a higher education," Miss Wense said. "It offers both a sense of privacy and a spirit of community in a very attractive balance. The time to take advantage of the availability of these facilities is now."

Q: Wouldn't it be easier to buy T-Bills from the Federal Reserve directly, or from a Federal Reserve Bank or branch?

A: Actually, neither source is as convenient, nor as simple, as purchasing a Treasury or T-bill from your bank. Even if you live close to a Federal Reserve Bank or branch, there are forms to complete, and you must bring along a certified personal or bank check for the T-Bill's full face value. Buying by mail from the Federal Reserve in Washington is time consuming and, again, there is considerable paperwork involved. Also, you must pay the full face value of the T-Bill. On the Thursday following a Monday transaction, for example, you would be sent a refund check for the discounted portion of the bill. For a small fee, your bank will take care of all the paperwork, as well as save the time and reinvestment opportunities which might be missed through the mail process.

Federation urges state action on school funds

"Illinois schools are facing serious financial problems for the 1984-85 school year. No matter how hard the governor and his cabinet try to ignore the problem, it just won't go away," Kenneth Drum, secretary-treasurer of the state's largest teacher union, the Illinois Federation of Teachers, said last week.

Main thrust of this year's "lobby day" effort, according to Drum, was to educate the governor and legislature as to the adequate funding, Drum related.

The IFTE has been receiving reports "from one end of the state to the other" as to the consequences of this year's proposed allocation for education. The reports take into account increases proposed by the General Assembly above and beyond the governor's proposed budget, he said.

Drum noted problems in Waukegan, for example, here that district is projecting a $2.8 million deficit next year. That district, Drum noted, has suffered a 50 percent cut in elementary art, music and physical education classes, a 100 percent cut in instrument music in the first four grades, no budget for new equipment, science equipment now out-of-date, a limit on computer literacy classes, all computer cut out due to lack of funds, and an instructional equipment budget cut in half.

Granite City, a district that suffered a severe budget crisis last year, is facing the same type of major crisis this year. The Kankakee school district is faced with a half-million-dollar deficit," Drum asserted.

"Kankakee has lost 74 teachers in the past few years and faces serious program cutbacks which clearly will be a severe loss to youngsters. Wheaton, Alton, Springfield and Rockford school districts all face dramatic cuts, and most particularly in areas that directly affect the children," he concluded.

"With few exceptions, the story is the same all across the state. Local school districts cannot operate without a significant increase in state funding. State funding has declined dramatically in the past six years, and that decline must be turned around," said Margaret Blackshire, assistant to the president for political action.

Mrs. Blackshire cited a number of states where increased educational funding in the past few years has been "dramatic."

While Illinois has dropped to 38 percent state support of education, states like California are funding 66 percent of education, Florida 62 percent and Texas, 51 percent. The average across the United States is 50 percent," Mrs. Blackshire asserted.

"We talk about meeting the challenge of a high-tech society, attracting new industry, retaining existing business, preparing our children for the future, and yet we continue to reduce the level of funding provided by the state."

"What we are ignoring educational needs, state funding for education in Tennessee will double in the next three years."

Property sale, joint treatment bills enacted

Three bills sponsored by Sen. Sam Vadablene, D-Edwardsville, were passed by the Illinois Senate last week. House Bill 1123 would apply only to the Metropolitan Sanitary District and would provide mainly for the district's power to sell, lease or convey property.

"Currently," Vadablene said, "the district owns more than 6,000 acres of land, much of which is not being used for any purpose."

"The bill would give the district authority to lease or sell some of this land. This would cut down on overhead costs for unused land while also providing for new revenue to the district from sale or leasing of the areas."

"Two companion bills would permit cities and counties to establish the Municipal Joint Sewage Treatment Agency."

"No new tax dollars would be required for the proposed project because Granite City has already established a secondary waste treatment facility large enough to handle the needs of all the other communities involved in the proposal."

"HB 2429 is needed to avoid the high cost involved in establishment and maintenance of a secondary wastewater treatment and new standards set by the federal and state environmental protection agencies."

"HB 2507 clarifies and stipulates that the areas of Washington Park, Fairmont City, National City, Caseyville, Vandalia, Brooklyn and a small portion of East St. Louis may also be included within the municipal joint sewage treatment agency."

"It is imperative that we reshuffle our priorities and get this funding problem solved once and for all. If we don't do it this year, we may inflict so much damage that it will take years for Illinois to recover," concluded Drum.

WASTE EXCHANGE

Lookin' for a new use

By Joan Muraro

SPRINGFIELD -- As every housewife knows, there's no problem like the leftovers problem that makes a woman's life so much more difficult. It's the carcass, the bone, the leavings.

Industry has its leftover problems, too, but on a larger scale and with some special complications. In the case of waste exchange, there's the casserole, the stockpot, the garbage can.

For industry, there's the waste exchange, a concept which would have been unheard of only a few decades ago.

In Illinois, the Industrial Material Exchange Service is entering its fourth year of existence. The company, which has helped about 20 percent in finding new destinations and uses for products which are only a problem for the industries which created them.

A cooperative venture between the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, the IMES acts like an old-world matchmaker, serving as a go-between to introduce waste to those who benefit from the union, and who might not have found each other without help.

In a highly industrial world, more and more things are being manufactured, thereby generating more and more by-products which must either be used or disposed of.

Disposal used to be deceptively simple; the wastes were simply dumped, or poured out, or buried, under the "out of sight, out of mind" philosophy.

With the passage of time, however, some of that waste began coming back like Hamlet's father, refusing to stay quietly buried and forgotten. The result has been Loves-Canal, Wilsonville and Superfund.

For some of the material was "recycled," such as using waste oils on roads. The result has sometimes been Times Beach.

To deal more effectively with waste, the industry has created the waste exchange, a concept which would have been unheard of only a few decades ago.

Krekovich files suit on Hit-N-Run zoning denial

John Krekovich, owner of Krekovich Realty, filed a complaint against the city of Granite City Friday morning regarding the city's denial of rezoning for two pieces of property.

The properties are a proposed Hit-N-Run Store at 29th Street and Madison Avenue and a property at 2707 Madison Ave. that was the former site of a bait shop. Both properties had been denied rezoning at Tuesday's city council meeting due to non-compliance with the five-acre requirement to obtain a C-4 commercial classification.

Krekovich, who owns both properties, had obtained buyers for the land, both purchases being subject to acquiring the desired zoning.

The complaint, which was filed in the Third Judicial Circuit Court in Edwardsville, states that "Granite City had considered similar requests by the owners of property for zoning changes within a short period of time prior to the applications referred to in this complaint and the city granted those changes."

It further states that the city "has been, for a period of time, discriminatory in refusing to apply its zoning decisions in an equitable manner with damage to the plaintiff in this case."

The complaint states that Krekovich would have netted a sum of $8,200 from sale of the properties. "...Zoning decisions by the city... were arbitrary and unreasonable in that the city in its review of similar requests had granted relief to other parties and refused the relief for the properties set forth herein and in other respects," it reads.

The suit also alleges that the city made its decision on these properties based on "political considerations rather than acceptable criteria for zoning of the property."

Krekovich is seeking $8,200 actual damages and $250,000 punitive damages. He is being represented by Attorney Leon G. Scroggins.

Senator attempts to find unclaimed assets owners

Senator Sam M. Vadalabene is trying to locate constituents who may own funds which they have forgotten. He is working with the Illinois Department of Financial Institutions in a cooperative effort to find owners of unclaimed assets.

"Many area residents have at least $100 of assets waiting to be claimed," Vadalabene said. "These unclaimed assets generally consist of checking or savings accounts, dividends, unclaimed payroll checks or safe deposit box contents, although they could consist of nearly any unclaimed financial asset."

After assets have been abandoned or inactive for seven years, the holder of that property must attempt to locate the owner. If the effort fails, the assets are turned over to the state. The state then holds the assets indefinitely until claimed by the owner, Vadalabene explained.

"We are attempting to rejoin the owner with his or her lost assets before the state takes custody," he said.

Persons on the preceding list are being requested to write the Department of Financial Institutions, 421 E. Capitol, Room 205, Springfield, Ill. 62706. Name, address and county of residence must be provided.

Learning goals may replace present Ill. class requirements

A proposal to replace current course requirements with Statements of Student Learning Outcomes that would also provide for greater local school district accountability is scheduled for final action by the State Board of Education at 11 a.m. June 28 meeting in Springfield.

The proposed student learning expectations seek to outline what students should at least know and be able to do as a consequence of their schooling in six academic areas—mathematics, language arts, biological and physical sciences, social sciences, fine arts and physical development and health.

The recommendations, which would require local assessment procedures to measure how well students are learning and meeting the outcomes, were developed with the assistance of an 85-member committee chaired by former University of Illinois President John Corbally.

If approved by the board, the proposals would require legislative action before they could be implemented.

School Board committee to study old Dunbar annex

The Madison School Board Thursday night voted to appoint a committee to investigate the condition and possible removal of the old Dunbar School Annex. Board President Paul Bargiel appointed members Ed Newsome, Don Garrett and Billie Bosworth to the committee.

The action was taken after Garrett told the board that he is concerned with the condition of the old Dunbar building, which sits in back of the school at Third and Jackson streets. He told the board that the city wants to be paid for tearing it down.

Bargiel suggested that a committee be appointed to study the issue and that bids to tear it down be solicited. School Superintendent John Palchiff suggested that the board postpone soliciting bids until the committee has studied the situation. "This may tie into something else with the whole Dunbar complex," he said.

In other action Thursday night, the board voted to allow the Systematic Training Effective Parenting, or STEP, Program to use the middle school one night a week for nine weeks, beginning Sept. 24.

Retiring teachers James Loy and Joe Asperger were presented with plaques during the meeting. Loy taught the past 29 years as a science teacher at the high school, while Asperger taught arts and crafts, industrial arts and math at the middle school for the past 30 years.

The board appointed Maudie

Waters as head cook at the middle school, and adopted a resolution allowing amendments in the 1983-84 budget when deemed necessary.

Palchiff was authorized to prepare a tentative budget for next year. A public hearing on that budget will be conducted Aug. 16, and the final adoption of the 1984-85 budget is scheduled for Sept. 20.

A board hearing on the Illinois Freedom of Information Act rules and authorized Palchiff to act as an official representative of the board in dealing with several federal, state and local programs.

FBI official to address group

The Southwestern Illinois Association of Bank Compliance Officers will conduct its quarterly meeting Thursday, June 28, at the Holiday Inn in Collinsville. It was announced by Association President Gary L. Fisher, auditor of First Illinois Bank in East St. Louis.

The program will feature a presentation by George P. Williams, supervisory senior resident agent of the Belleville office of the F.B.I., on the importance of sound security systems in financial institutions.

GC Steel charting path to worldwide competitiveness

"Basic industries of this country, such as steel, must make adjustments that will enable them to regain the competitiveness they once enjoyed in the marketplace."

"We have been successful in doing this at Granite City Steel, at a time when the industry as a whole is undergoing some of the most severe pressures it has ever faced," it has been asserted by Edward L. Sambuchi.

As vice president and general manager of the Granite City Steel Division of the National Steel Group, Sambuchi addressed the Thomas J. White Family Fellowship Conference, held annually at St. Louis University.

The speaker participated in a panel discussion about "Meeting the challenge of the new industrial revolution."

Since his talk, the federal government has approved an agreement in principle under which there will be a joint steelmaking venture between National Intergraph, Inc., and Nippon Kokan, a leading Japanese steel producer. The two firms envision transforming such plants as Granite City Steel from their primarily domestic orientation to a worldwide perspective.

Sambuchi stressed in his address that the United States needs viable basic industries, able to keep pace with industries anywhere in the world.

He commented, "We can't deny that the American economy is undergoing a shift of its mix, with a greater emphasis on high technology and service industries."

"I'm confident that what we have done can be done by other 'smokestack' industries. I object to the term 'smokestack,' a negative connotation for all basic industries, many of which are as strong, competitive and positive industries. This includes GC Steel."

"The question to be addressed is not merely the shift in the economic base, but the proper balance between high-tech and basic industries and the economic viability of each."

"This calls for recognition by the public, government and media of the role basic industries play in our economy—as an employer, a taxpayer, a purchaser of high technology and a user of service organizations."

"I am proud to work in the steel industry, which I consider one of the great basic and essential American industries. It will continue to be a source of employment for thousands of people, including myself, and it will emerge from the difficult recent years to regain a worldwide competitive position."

"My confidence is based on many things, not the least of them our success at GC Steel and National Steel in strengthening our operations to ensure our long-term health," Sambuchi said.

"Let's look at the state of the American steel industry in recent years—"

"Demand for steel decreased substantially, creating unused capacity."

"The industry faced, and continues to face, fierce competition from foreign suppliers, much of it coming from unfair competition since it violates our nation's trade laws."

"Substitute materials—aluminum, glass, plastics, cardboard, ceramics—gained a share of some of our traditional business."

"Products traditionally using steel, such as cars, were redesigned and downsized."

"Production costs rose while pricing decreased."

"A quick and long-lasting turnaround would require dramatic action," Sambuchi said.

"In early 1981 we took a good look at ourselves. We saw some things that needed improvement, but we saw some good things, too."

"We set out to put them in balance and tap the potential represented by the positive side of our assessment."

"On the negative side, we were sluggish, unable to respond rapidly to changes in market conditions. Our financial returns were unfavorable."

"We reviewed our facilities in relation to not only our traditional markets but markets we could best serve."

"Although we had far too much capacity, we really had many facilities required extensive capital improvement if they were to remain competitive in the marketplace—capital which was not readily available. But there was some good news."

"A. We also saw people who were extremely capable—unlike any stereotype—people with the ability to utilize technology and equipment and develop or adapt to new concepts."

"This is true of both hourly and salaried employees. You would be pleasantly surprised at the amount of skill and the application of extremely sophisticated technology that our people are using."

"B. In addition to the people, modern 'state of the art' equipment was in place at each facility."

"With our self-evaluation done, we set out to determine where we wanted to go. To help, we defined our mission."

"Our mission statement gives us direction for the two publics involved in our business—our customers, our employees, our stockholders and the communities in which we do business."

"Some parts of the mission statement represent significant and dramatic changes in our way of doing business. This mission statement includes:

"1. We will be a market-driven and customer-oriented supplier of steel, rather than production-driven as in the past."

"2. We will listen to the customer's needs and satisfy his requirements."

"3. We will attain a leadership position by producing the highest quality product at a competitive price and providing our customers with superior service."

"4. We are committed to creating and maintaining an environment which encourages creativity, innovation and performance excellence among our employees, based on open communication, trust and teamwork. We will encourage all employees to express themselves, particularly in the decision-making process."

"5. We will provide a fair return to stockholders on their investment."

"6. We will maintain a strong financial position by managing our resources and by funding the proper strategies and controlling our breakeven point."

"7. And we pledge to operate our business as responsible corporate citizens. We encourage our employees to take an active part in civic affairs. We will obey the laws, honor contracts, pay our taxes and be a good neighbor."

"Of course, the pronouncement of a policy is not enough in and of itself. We matched our words with action."

"At Great Lakes Steel in the Detroit area, two of the four blast furnaces were shut down permanently."

"One of the two basic oxygen furnace shops was shut down. This shop was built in the early 1960s and was a very modern shop, but the market demand was insufficient to support a plant of this size."

"The Weirton Steel Division, our largest steelmaking facility, was sold to the employees."

"An aggressive and realistic five-year capital plan was developed to ensure that the available money was being invested to bring about effective change, including the proper application of high technology," Sambuchi related.

"Examples already in place or planned for the near future include—"

"—Another continuous caster, which eliminates many of the steelmaking processes and produces slabs at a significantly reduced cost."

"—On-line digital computers to control the basic oxygen shop, charge calculations and setups for the continuous caster, completely automating our 80-inch hot strip mill."

"—Process controls on many of our operations, radio-controlled devices, such as overhead cranes, locomotives and closed-circuit television to transmit information, and the usual complement of automated business systems."

"At the same time, we restructured into independent business groups under National Intergraph, Inc."

"Granite City Steel is a division of National Steel Corp., which also includes Great Lakes Steel in Detroit, Midwest Steel in Portage, Ind., and our Raw Materials Division."

"Management structures at both the headquarters and the divisions were reviewed and redesigned. At our division, we reduced the levels of management from ten to six."

"Job functions were analyzed and responsibilities were redistributed. Unnecessary functions were eliminated."

"We are able to manage our business more efficiently. We made cost management an integral part of the job—a standard against which performance is measured."

"Relentless cost management was institutionalized at all divisions for all expenditures. We believe all employees are cost managers."

"Has it paid off? The record speaks for itself."

"In 1982 National Steel had an operating loss of more than $150 million. In 1983 National Steel had an operating profit—according to some industry sources making us the only integrated steel producer to show a profit."

"We have substantially reduced our costs, enabling us to compete more effectively."

"These accomplishments were not made without some adjustments affecting our people. Employment levels were reduced significantly. At GC Steel we are operating at over 90 percent capacity with less than 3,800 people; traditionally, this level of production would have utilized over 5,000."

"While this ability to produce at such levels is a tribute to the skills and attitudes of our people, the fact remains that there are fewer people on the payroll, and that means more unemployed."

"Many of these unemployed are highly skilled workers but they will need some transition training."

"This is a serious problem and yet we at GC Steel are not equipped to address this issue."

"Our training facilities are among the most sophisticated in the industry but are geared to steel mill technology and steel mill operating techniques. Our unemployed need to be trained for skills outside of steel."

"Who should aid these displaced workers? The impetus and leadership for this must come from another source better able to address the totality of the problem."

"We would be willing to take a supporting role and help where we can, but we cannot assume the entire responsibility of a leadership position. We have a mill to run efficiently and that means the jobs of our current work forces demand our strictest attention toward making high-quality steel at low cost."

"Another problem is the capital to accomplish all that is necessary to improve our competitive position even more in maintaining the steel industry as a viable entity. Here the government can help."

"There are two areas which should be included in any consideration of government action. First is the taking of responsible steps to ensure that worldwide markets are accessible to American-made steel. This means an equitable trade policy cognizant of the impact of heavily subsidized steel from other countries."

"Secondly, basic industry should be helped to create capital that can be used to ensure a healthy steel industry and prevent further decreases in employment levels."

"State and local officials can also contribute to our well being. A considerable amount of effort is being put forth to attract new industries in various localities."

"What we must be careful of is that we devote an equal amount of attention and efforts to maintaining what is already there. Communities should work with the basic industries to determine those areas where local and state governments can help support possible profitability and maintain jobs."

"This help may come in the form of workman's compensation laws, unemployment compensation, investment incentives and taxes."

"In summary, GC Steel is an example of how basic industries can compete."

"We will offer career opportunities to those people willing to get involved with an exciting and challenging group of problems."

"We are working at nearly full capacity, and I think the future outlook is for a more stable industry, one not susceptible to peaks and valleys in the economy, one that can be depended on by the community, by the high-technology producers and by the service industries to be there when needed."

"I have referred to the importance of a balance between high-tech and basic industries."

"One speaker referred to the fact that the Japanese and Europeans are moving strongly into the high-tech field, threatening U.S. leadership in this field. Another referred to the move of service industry to Japan."

"It is a competitive world, isn't it? No one is immune to a challenge of its leadership position."

"But I am confident America's steel industry can take a worldwide view to markets, and that it has the ability to be an important factor in those markets for many years to come," Sambuchi concluded.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Last week this article discussed the benefits which a worker injured on the job is entitled to receive under the Illinois Workmen's Compensation Act. It was noted that the injured employee will receive necessary medical care, temporary compensation until he gets back to work, and a permanent award if there is a loss of use of a particular part of the body. An example will help illustrate these benefits.

Let's assume that a nurse at a local hospital is 42 years old, married, and has four children under the age of 18. She earns $7.00 an hour for a 40 hour week. While walking down the halls of the hospital, she slips on a wet floor and thereby injures her right foot. She is treated at the Emergency Room, then is hospitalized and the cast is placed on her foot. In our hypothetical situation, let's further assume that she is confined to the hospital for two days, the cast remains on her foot for seven weeks, and she receives physical therapy treatments for three additional weeks. For these ten weeks, she is unable to work. After her return to work, she continues to notice pain, and this proves to be a permanent condition with a resulting 40 percent loss of use of the right foot.

The nurse in our example is entitled to have all first aid, medical, and hospital services paid by workmen's compensation coverage as well as her physical therapy treatments. In addition, she will receive ten weeks of temporary total disability (TTD) at the rate of $186.67 per week. This represents 2/3 of her weekly salary, and the total amount of TTD she will receive for this ten week period will be $1,866.70. Finally, the nurse will receive compensation for 40 percent loss of use of her right foot which translates into 62 additional weeks of compensation at the weekly rate of $186.67 per week. Therefore, the total amount she will receive for loss of use will be $11,573.54.

In conclusion, the injured nurse is entitled to receive temporary benefits as well as compensation for her permanent disability based on 40 percent loss of use. It is important to note that compensation for permanent disability is payable in addition to TTD. Often injured workers will get their medical bills paid and receive their temporary compensation and not realize that they are also entitled to a permanent award if their earning capacity is permanently reduced.

Hatfield House, which is a British historical treasure, represents the home of the Earl of Greytstone in Warner's "Greystoke: The Legend of Tarzan, Lord of the Apes."

In the new movie Tarzan, played by Christopher Lambert, meets Jane at his ancestral mansion rather than in the jungle.

Andie MacDowell is Jane.
